GOP Told Farm Cuts Political Suicide

REP. SABATH OPENS DRIVE ON ECONOMY MOVE

Republicans Admit 32 Percent Agriculture Reductions May Not Stand

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 27—The Republican economy campaign cleared a major hurdle today when the house voted 189 to 170 against restoration of 183 million dollars cut from agricultural funds for 1948.

WASHINGTON, May 27—Rep. Sabath (D) Ill., warned Republicans today that it would mean their "political suicide" if they supported the 32 percent cut made by the GOP leadership in 1948 agricultural funds.

The dean of the house accused the Republican leadership of having applied a "gag" to hamper restoration of the 333 million, 427 thousand dollars reduction made in the agricultural department's one billion, 188 million 571 thousand dollar budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Sabath's speech launched the Democratic attack upon the drastic cuts made by the economy-minded house appropriations committee in the annual farm supply bill. The reductions also came under Republican fire.

REP. DIRKSEN (R) Ill., chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee on agriculture, conceded that a tough battle was ahead to hold the line on the 32 per cent cut in agricultural funds recommended by his group.

Dirksen anticipated that an almost solid bloc of Democrats would be joined by some Republicans in voting to restore (Continued on Page Two)

ANOTHER SUGAR STAMP TO BE GOOD AUGUST 1

Pickaway county housewives Tuesday had been assured of more sugar before the summer is over.

The agriculture department announced that a third 1947 sugar rationing stamp good for 10 pounds will be good not later than August 1.

Spare stamp No. 12 may be used at once instead of waiting until June 1, it was announced.

The department said that if improvement in sugar supplies continues, additional sugar above the 35 pounds originally scheduled for the year, will be made available to consumers.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Mr. Truman has given us the unusual spectacle of a busy executive who has time for his family.

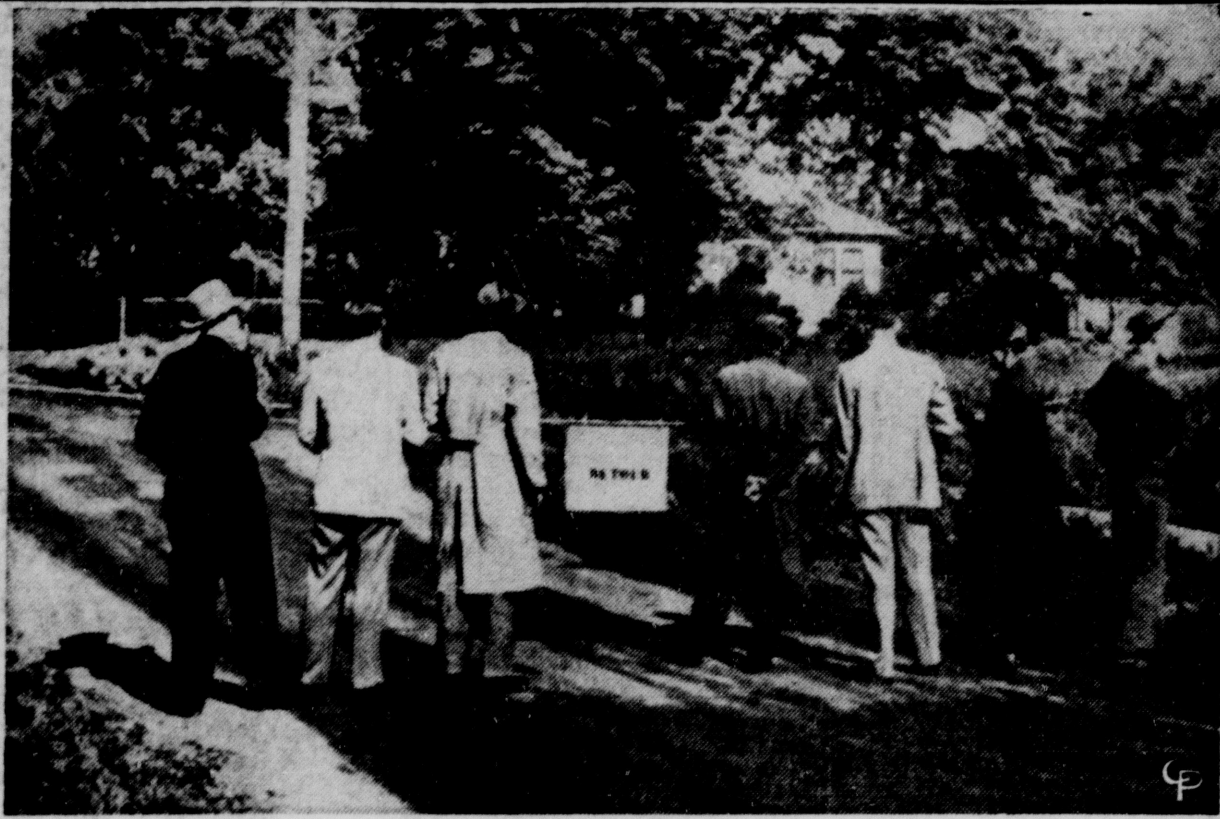

"The cemeteries are full of 'successful men' who were strangers to the home folks."

And world affairs aren't much different. There are many people who have plans for saving the world but none for spending an evening with the family.

In 1948 voters may not remember whether Harry had a world-saving plan in 1947, but many will remember one unplanned sentence he spoke of his mother.

"She sat up with me many times when I needed her," he said, "and I want to reciprocate when she needs me."

Those words may not make the pages of international history but to people who put home and family first they make a "Truman doctrine" we can understand.

CURIOUS neighbors and newsmen watch the home of Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 94-year-old gravely ill mother of the President, from behind a road barricade set up to bar disturbing street traffic. The President, playing a dual role as the nation's executive and a devoted son, has been at his mother's side for the last ten days.

Pessimistic Forecast On Crops Made By Kruse

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—An estimate that less than five per cent of Ohio's corn crop has been planted was made today by Elmer Kruse, director of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration in Ohio.

"The constant rains of the last few weeks makes for a very gloomy outlook," Kruse told International News Service. "Regardless of what the weather is from now on, there will be a huge loss to Ohio farmers in oats and corn production."

Kruse pointed out that only 25 per cent of the Ohio oats crop was planted and that less than 25 per cent of the ground to be sown to corn and soybeans has even been broken.

INCREASED sowings of soybeans will be the main result of the rainy weather, he said, "providing soy bean seed can be obtained."

Kruse pointed out that the average corn planted in the state takes from 110 to 115 days to mature thus necessitating very late frosts if the corn is to mature properly.

"Even if Fall were late," Kruse explained, "quality of the Ohio corn crop would suffer."

Scarcity of seed corn of the type which matures in 90 to 100 days, adds to the poor outlook for this crop, Kruse pointed out.

22 NAZI WAR CRIMINALS DIE

Mauthausen Camp Officials And Guards Hanged At Landsberg Prison

LANDSBERG, GERMANY, May 27—Twenty-two condemned officials and guards of the notorious Nazi Mauthausen concentration camp were hanged today at Landsberg prison.

This group will be followed to the gallows tomorrow by 27 others in the largest mass execution of Nazi war criminals yet ordered in occupied Germany.

The death sentences were ordered by an American war crimes court which convicted the former camp operators of atrocities and murder.

GOP, DEMOCRATS HOLD BANQUETS, TALK POLITICS

NEW YORK, May 27—National politics with an eye on 1948 took the headlines today following separate Republican and Democratic banquets.

The Republicans paid $50 a plate to hear Gov. Thomas E. Dewey chide the Truman administration about its $25 million campaign to drive Communists out of government positions.

Dewey said: "The best way to avoid having Communists in government is not to appoint them."

Navy Secretary James Forrestal was the principal speaker at the $100 a plate Democratic dinner. He delivered a strong defense of American labor and praised Mayor William O'Dwyer who some Democrats are booming for governor.

PRESIDENT OF NICARAGUA HELD BY PREDECESSOR

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, May 27—Leonardo Arguello, president of Nicaragua for 27 days, was reported a prisoner in the executive palace today following a bold seizure of the government by his predecessor, Gen. Anastasio Somoza.

The former dictator-president, who had ruled Nicaragua for more than 10 years, was said to be holding the aged Arguello with a demand that he relinquish his office.

Managua, the capital, was said to be generally calm, although considerable tension was reported in other sections of the Central American republic.

Somoza seized control of the government Sunday night with the support of the national guard.

His president-prisoner took office May 1 after a February election victory when he was the candidate of the liberal party, which has long been controlled by Somoza.

QUITO, ECUADOR, May 27—Two retired Army officers and five alleged Communists were held in Guayaquil today on a charge of instigating a subversive move against the government.

Member stores of the retail merchants' division of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce will remain open Wednesday afternoon.

Decision to keep the retail stores open—they are customarily closed at noon on Wednesdays—was made because of the fact the establishments will remain closed all day Friday in observance of the Memorial Day holiday.

MOSES HANDED TWO SENTENCES

Reformatory Terms On Two Charges Given Holdup Man By Judge

Robert Michael Moses, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn. and Columbus, was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory, Tuesday noon, by Judge William D. Radcliff.

Moses was sentenced to 10 to 25 years for armed robbery and to 1 to 20 years for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The terms are to run concurrently.

On May 17 Moses was arraigned in Pickaway county common pleas court and at that time he pleaded not guilty to three indictments. At the suggestion of his counsel, Attorney George Gerhardt, the court Tuesday quashed the third indictment charging Moses with resisting an officer.

ARCHITECT PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO 'GYP' SALES

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—A Worthington landscape architect who was indicted on ten counts of fraudulent sales of lots to veterans, was free today under $2,500 bond after pleading innocent to the charges.

Harrison M. Boyd, 54, posted the bail following his arraignment before Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Cecil J. Randall.

Boyd was indicted secretly last week by the Franklin county grand jury and was arrested early yesterday morning.

State Highway Patrol Warns Holiday Drivers

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—The state highway patrol offered some advice today to those who want to travel by automobile over the Memorial Day weekend and yet live.

Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the patrol, called upon every motorist and every pedestrian to obey a seven-rule formula to lower the toll of eight dead and 143 injured in Ohio traffic last Memorial Day.

COLONEL MINGLE'S recommendations were:

1. Stay on your side of the road

Youth, 16, Admits Shooting 4 Children

LANSING, MICH., May 27—A love-sick 16-year-old boy today reportedly confessed the gunslaying of four children in a field of wild flowers because the eldest girl refused him dates.

The youth is Oliver Terpening, Imlay City, who was captured by a ruse near Toledo after an all-night hunt by Canadian and United States authorities. Imlay City is about 50 miles northeast of Detroit near the international border.

The youth was immediately brought back to state police headquarters in Lansing for questioning. Constables Thomas Gray and William Warner who arrested him in Lucas County, O., were quoted as saying he had confessed slaying the four children of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith with his .22 caliber rifle.

The victims were Barbara, 16, who had refused to "go out" with the boy despite his frequent pleas; Stanley, 14; Gladys, 12, and Janet, 2. When the bodies were found in the field last night the two older girls still clutched bunches of violets in their hands.

NORMAN DOMBROSKI, a Toledo painter, was credited with capturing the youth who had slipped through an elaborate police blockade at Port Huron, the city in which he abandoned his father's automobile.

Dombroski played a "lucky hunch" and picked up the hitchhiking boy near his home after hearing a radio broadcast of the

MILLIKIN SEES TAX BILL OKAY

Democratic Postponement Move Defeated 48-44 In House

WASHINGTON, May 27—Sen. Millikin (R) Col. predicted prompt house acceptance of the senate's July 1 tax reduction bill today following his four-vote defeat of a Democratic postponement motion.

Encouraged by what they called a "high water mark" victory, GOP leaders drove for senate passage of the four billion dollar tax relief bill by Thursday, when congress plans to recess for the Memorial Day weekend.

Some Democrats gave the majority little chance of achieving its speedup goal. But they admitted the measure would pass.

MILIKIN, chairman of the senate finance committee, said the house would "not take long" in accepting the senate revisions in its bill, even if the measure was sent to a conference committee.

At the same time he forecast a vote on major Democratic amendments even "better" than the 48-to-44 rejection of the June 10 postponement (Continued on Page Two) hunted youth's description. Without raising his passenger's suspicion, the motorist stopped at a constable's office at 8:30 a. m. and announced:

"I have a boy out in the car who answers the description of the boy wanted in Michigan for murder. Do you want him?"

"You bet we want him," said Constable Warner.

Warner and Constable Gray then went to the car and seized young Terpening, who first denied his identity and gave them a fictitious address in Toledo.

"I couldn't find any such address," Warner said. "So I said to him, 'now come clean. What happened?'"

"Then the boy broke down and admitted that he killed the four children yesterday afternoon and hitchhiked here. He showed us his driver's license and it had (Continued on Page Two)

NATIONAL GUARD TO FORT HAYES

Regular Army Post To Be Used By Guardsmen; 'Right Of Entry' Granted

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—Fort Hayes, veteran of the last four of its country's wars, was turning the page to a new chapter today.

Like many of the thousands of men who passed through its gates in World War II, it will doff the insignia of the regular army and enlist in the National Guard.

The Fifth Service Command will pass into oblivion Saturday, to be replaced by the Ohio military district. With the change will start the departure of practically all the regular Army officers and units now stationed there.

Closing of the Columbus installation as a regular Army post was announced many weeks ago, but the speculation that the reorganized Ohio National Guard might take it over was confirmed only late yesterday.

VISHINSKY SEES PEACE DESPITE 'WAR THREATS'

MOSCOW, May 27—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky gave assurance today that Russia foresees peace "for a long time."

He wrote in a Pravda article that "the cause of peace is secure" despite efforts "by aggressive elements to provoke war."

Vishinsky said: "There have not been a few such attempts, as shown, for instance, by the provocative speeches of some wild American senators."

The Soviet minister named Sens. Elmer Thomas (D) Okla., Richard B. Russell (D) Ga., and Owen Brewster (R) Me., as "instigating war against the Soviet Union."

He added that "all such attempts are doomed to failure." Vishinsky wrote that Russia's abolishment of the death penalty was a direct result of the prospect for a long peace.

The dropping of the death penalty—a wartime measure—became effective today. Death sentences not yet carried out will be commuted to 25 years imprisonment at hard labor.

Plans Solo Flight

A VETERAN of four years of army flying William R. Hancock, 23, Little Rock, Ark., is shown beside a converted P-38 in which he hopes to establish a new round-the-world solo flight record. The late Wiley Post established the present record.

SWERINGEN TO LONDON CHURCH

First Methodist Pastor For Four Years Transferred To New Charge

The Rev. Clarence Swearingen, pastor of the First Methodist church in Circleville for the last four years, will leave shortly to serve the London church. Announcement of the transfer of the Rev. Mr. Swearingen was made at closing sessions of the Ohio Methodist conference in Cincinnati.

The Rev. Mr. Swearingen came to Circleville from the Third Avenue Methodist church in Columbus. He formerly served at Williamsport.

He is a member of the Circleville Rotary club and has been active in the Pickaway County Ministerial association and other local activities.

CINCINNATI, May 27—The Ohio conference of the Methodist church pressed toward ending its annual meeting today, a day later than originally planned.

Announcement of pastoral assignments was to feature today's activities.

The conference yesterday established a minimum for pastors' salaries of $1,700 per year with an extra allowance of $100 for each child.

A pension was established of $25 per year for each year of service.

Completing a 13-member clerical delegation to the 1948 jurisdictional conference in Indianapolis, the state body added three central Ohio ministers to ten previously selected. Delegates named yesterday were the Rev. George W. Herd, Lancaster, Dr. D. Finley Wood, Worthington, and Dr. Walter P. Castoe, Columbus.

Alternate delegates chosen included: Dr. Charles Murphy, Cincinnati; Dr. Gaston Foote, Dayton and the Rev. W. L. Nofcier, Kenton.

JUNE 'DAIRY MONTH'

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—June, peak production period for Ohio's herds, was proclaimed "dairy month" by Governor Herbert today. Citing the importance of the industry to Ohio's welfare and declaring that "milk is nature's most nearly perfect food," Herbert called on Ohioans "to increase appreciation and consumption of milk and dairy products and to improve our standard of health and our enjoyment of dairy foods."

PROGRAM WILL COMBINE ALL PRESENT GROUPS

Truman Seeks More Effective Administration Of Federal Housing Activities

WASHINGTON, May 27—President Truman sent to congress today a new housing plan which places the government's major permanent housing programs in a single establishment.

The chief executive declared in an accompanying message that the plan provides the necessary framework for a more effective administration of federal housing activities in the post-war period.

All of the government's housing agencies and functions are placed under the reorganization plan, in a housing and home finance agency which will consolidate agencies and functions formerly scattered among many different establishments.

THE PRESIDENT said he would promptly submit to the senate nominations of officers to head the new housing set-up. Meanwhile, existing housing officials are to perform temporarily the functions of the new officers.

Mr. Truman said that the plan "simplifies and increases the efficiency of permanent housing functions." It also provides for administration of certain emergency housing activities pending their liquidation.

MR. TRUMAN pointed out that the provision of adequate housing will remain a major national objective throughout the next decade. He added:

"The primary responsibility for meeting housing needs rests, and must continue to rest, with private industry, as I have stated on other occasions."

SUBMITTED to congress under the second war powers act, the housing reorganization plan groups nearly all permanent housing agencies and functions of the government, as well as remaining emergency housing activities, in a housing and home finance agency.

The following constituent agencies are provided for:

A home loan bank board to administer the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., the Home Owners Loan Corp., and the functions of the Federal Home Loan bank board and its members;

M R S . TRUMAN BETTER AFTER NEW REVERSE

GRANDVIEW, MO., May 27—President Truman's 94-year-old mother was "holding her own" again today after a temporary loss of ground in her fight for life during the night.

Mrs. Martha E. Truman suffered a bad chill during the night after a remarkable new rally yesterday.

The President, from his mother's bedside in the Grandview cottage, said shortly before 11 a. m. EST., that he had recovered from her setback of the night in fairly good shape.

He said his mother is now sleeping and holding her own.

The President added that there has been no material change since yesterday, but that he does not yet know what her rally means in the terms of the outcome of her critical condition.

A saddened chief executive earlier had reported his mother's reverse during the night.

funds to the $1,188,571,318 bill which the appropriations committee reduced to $805,143,576, a cut of $383,427,742. This is about 40 per cent less than the agriculture department is now receiving.

The house met at 10 a. m. EST., an hour earlier than usual, to take up the measure whose consideration was delayed a day by the death of Rep. Bradley (R) Mich. The entire day was expected to be taken up with formal debate, with the voting beginning tomorrow. The leadership hoped to complete action by nightfall.

THE RIGHT to restore at least part of the cuts was being led by Rep. Hope (R) Kans., chairman of the house agriculture committee, and Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee.

Attempts were to be made to retain for the agriculture department the 148 million dollars in customs receipts rescinded to the treasury, restore part of the cut made in the operating expenses for soil conservation, and increase funds for the school lunch program. The $26,600,000 cut in funds of the rural electrification administration also drew fire.

The 32 per cent decrease was affected largely by reductions in funds for soil conservation benefit payments, school lunch program, farm tenant loans, farmers' production and subsistence loans, farm tenant mortgage insurance, REA, crop insurance, farm research, and the forest service.

State police ballistics tests at East Lansing had established that Terpening's 22-caliber rifle was the weapon which killed Barbara Smith, who had refused him "dates," and her younger brother and two sisters.

All four children were shot through the head as they were picking flowers on a grassy slope near their farm home, nine miles northwest of Imlay City.

motion sponsored by Sen. George (D) Ga.

Sen. Lucas (D) Ill. virtually conceded defeat in advance on his substitute bill which incorporates the two principal changes sought by minority senators. One of these would boost personal exemptions by $100. The other would give husbands and wives in all states the right to split their income for tax purposes.

AT THE SAME time Lucas indicated his opposition to any attempt to write the "Split-income" proviso into the tax bill without his accompanying exemption increase. The Democratic whip explained:

"If you put in just the community property amendment, you give 750 million dollars more to upper bracket taxpayers. That would throw the tax structure all out of joint. You have to do the two things together or an inequity results for the low-income group."

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage license was granted in Pickaway county probate court Monday to Roland Lloyd Quickel, 21, apprentice machinist, Columbus, and Carrie Zulene Arledge, bookkeeper, 364 East Union street. Other marriage licenses were issued to Roland Claude Cook, 29, weighmaster, and Lucille Annette Hedges, secretary, both of Ashville, and to Gene Tosco, 20, student, Ashville, and Rebecca Roese, comptometrist, Ashville, RFD.

the more than 100 buildings on the post.

General Goble explained that the buildings would be occupied by 30 units of the guard and the warehouses and offices of the U. S. property and disbursing officer for Ohio. These buildings do not include residences and a large barracks, which the city of Columbus is seeking to relieve the housing shortage, or the post hospital, which reportedly will be turned over to the public health service.

Brig. Gen. Kenneth M. Cooper, ONG chief of staff, explained that granting of the "right of entry" was a temporary device to provide the guard with use of the property until a formal lease can be agreed upon between the state and the war department.

HEADQUARTERS of the 37th division and of many subsidiary units will be established at the post, according to General Cooper. In addition, some Columbus units of the ONG will use buildings as armories and the still other buildings and grounds will be used for the storage of ONG vehicles, supplies and equipment.

The chief of staff said that the post would not be used for any training more extensive than regular drills.

Officers at Fort Hayes said that many of the functions of the expiring Fifth Service Command will be transferred to Second Army headquarters at Baltimore and that other Army offices would be moved to new locations. Both military and civilian personnel will be trimmed sharply after this week, although no exact figures were available.

KIDNAPED GUARD FREED BY SIX YOUNG ESCAPEES

MANSFIELD, O., May 27—Six escaped inmates from the Mansfield men's reformatory abandoned a stolen prison truck and left a kidnaped guard trussed up with wire at Grand Rapids near Napoleon early today as an 11-state alarm was flashed by the state highway patrol.

The guard, David Robinson, 35, Shelby, who was forced at knife-point to signal a guard to let the truck through the reformatory gate yesterday, telephoned Mansfield officials that he was unharmed. Robinson said that the youths had dispersed after leaving him in the truck.

Meanwhile, Mansfield Superintendent Arthur L. Glatke ordered an immediate change in regulations governing release of the institution's trucks through the gates.

YOUTH JAILED HERE AFTER 30 MINUTE CHASE

Nabbed in a South Court street all-night restaurant following a 30-minute police hunt, after he abandoned the automobile he had borrowed, Harold Knece, 21, truck driver, Route 3, Circleville, was in the city jail Tuesday awaiting a hearing before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

Patrolmen Alva Shasteen and John W. McGinnis were cruising at 3:10 a. m. Tuesday and they sighted a car with no lights at South Court and Corwin streets. As the police car approached the occupant of the unlighted machine backed it against a telephone pole at South Court and Mill streets. He then leaped from the car and ran through nearby yards with the officers in hot pursuit.

Thirty minutes later the patrolmen arrested Knece in the restaurant on a charge of driving an automobile without lights.

John Moore, Route 3, Circleville, in whose home Knece lives, told police the sedan was his property and that he loaned the car to Knece at midnight Monday.

GIBSON SENT TO MANSFIELD ON THEFT CHARGE

James Harding Gibson, 26, Huntington, W. Va., was sentenced Tuesday to one to seven years in the Mansfield Reformatory on each of two grand larceny counts.

The penalty was imposed by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway county common pleas court after Gibson changed his plea to guilty under both indictments. He entered an innocent plea when arraigned May 17. Judge Radcliff decreed that the two terms are to run concurrently.

The indictments charged that Gibson stole a $55 overcoat belonging to Gerald Hanley and a $38 radio owned by Jack Hatz. Sheriff Charles Radcliff said that Gibson and William Dale Scott, 20, "bicycle bandit" who held up the "Green Lantern" cafe on West Main street, will probably be transferred from the county jail Wednesday to the Mansfield institution, and that Thomas Irvin, 36, of 157 West Main street, an admitted forger, will likely be removed Wednesday to the Ohio Penitentiary.

Scott was sentenced Monday by Judge Radcliff to serve 10 to 25 years, and Irvin was sentenced to one to seven years.

Nothing like it for looks... nothing like it for thrills... brilliant-performing new postwar Studebaker

PEOPLE see things they like in all the 1947 cars. But the low-slung new Studebakers are the cars everybody remembers. Each 1947 Studebaker is unmistakably a showpiece—excitingly different—thoroughly postwar. Even more thrilling, say many owners, is the way the new Studebaker handles and rides. See it now! Only car with "black light" dash dials—self-adjusting brakes—unique new wide-vision windows and windshield!

CLARK SUGGESTS NEW NAME FOR MERGING TOWNS

'Twin Town' Offered As Tag
For Baltimore And
Basil Combined

Distinction of christening two merged towns in Ohio may go to Fred C. Clark, Circleville mortician.

The towns of Baltimore and Basil, adjoining in northern Fairfield county, recently decided to consolidate, and an appropriate name for the twin communities is now being sought.

A newspaper at Baltimore recently published Mr. Clark's suggestion that the merged towns be named either "Twin Town" or "Twin Towns".

THE PROPOSAL was made in a letter sent by Mr. Clark. It said:

"Congratulations to both the leadership and the people of Baltimore and Basil upon their decision to join forces and combine communities under one name. Many times a traveler through the twin cities I feel that the decision reflects wisdom and aliveness among the people responsible for this progressive change. Furthermore, I am confident that the results of the change will prove once more that 'in union there is strength'."

"SHAKESPEARE said that 'a rose by any other name would be as sweet'. But to the people of the twin towns, Baltimore and Basil may never be the same under another name, as it is very likely that many changes will come, all to the good, with the change from dual to single identity."

"Since Baltimore and Basil have been known for so long as to many people as the 'twin towns' it seems to me that the transition may be accomplished with a minimum of misunderstanding and a maximum of valuable community publicity if 'Twin Town' or

'Twin Towns' is adopted as the official name of the new joint venture.

"Such a name has the definite advantage of being specific in meaning, easy to remember, and sufficiently catchy to attract attention and contribute to the reputation and prosperity of the new community."

SCHOOL BILL AGAIN DELAYED BY COMMITTEE

Senate Rejects Cigaret Tax To Pay Bonus; Long Session Sure

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — A conference committee on the soldier bonus and a house-senate deadlock on schools and appropriations wrecked hopes today of winding up the work of the Ohio legislature next week.

The senate first refused to go along with house amendments to the soldier bonus bill, which would levy an extra cent-a-pack cigarette tax to pay part of the 300 million dollar bonus cost. The house was expected today to insist on its amendments and ask for a conference committee to work out house-senate differences.

Later, the house rules committee again refused to place the 83 million dollar Daniels-Cramer school bill on Wednesday's calendar, which probably means it will not be acted on this week.

THE SENATE finance committee, meanwhile, was holding up the 565 million dollar general budget bill until the house acts on the senate-approved school bill.

Committee Chairman Al Daniels (R-Greenfield) asserted that the final amount carried in the school bill, which the house education committee cut from 88 to 63 millions a year, would have to be placed in the budget bill.

The house finance committee also was having its troubles, with section meetings scheduled again today in an effort to cut the postwar improvements bill from 81 millions as approved by Governor Herbert to 54 millions, which is all the money available if a 75 million dollar first payment on the bonus remains in the budget bill now before the senate group.

THE BONUS bill became entangled in legislative red tape when Sen. D. A. Liggett (R-Belle Center) urged his colleagues to vote against concurrence in the house amendments.

As passed by the senate, the cost of paying a maximum $400 bonus would be split between a million dollar a month take from the state's revenues and a levy on real estate. The cigarette tax inserted by the house would all but obviate the necessity for taxing real estate, but would leave real estate pledged to guarantee salability of the bonds.

The senate today takes up the bill to fix a flat $10 license fee for all auto licenses, while the house votes on several important measures.

Chief among them for interest was the bill to regulate strip mining of coal, which is being pushed by Governor Herbert. There was a persistent rumor that a powerful Cleveland political boss had pressured the Cuyahoga county delegation to vote against the measure, with the result that the vote of the Clevelanders was being watched with unusual interest.

OTHER BILLS which the house will consider are the Shepard omnibus elections reform measure, the perennially controversial Christian Science bill, a bill to halt payment of old age pensions to those in public institutions, and a bill to increase the powers of the highway patrol.

The house last night passed nine bills, including measures to pay the medical expenses of old age pensioners up to $200 and

RUSSIANS PAY THIRD OF WAGES TO GOVERNMENT

Average Annual Tax Bill Is
$150; Income About
$500 Per Year

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service

NEW YORK, May 27—Nearly one third of the earned income of workers in Russia today is paid back to the government in the form of taxes.

The average tax bill is around 1,800 roubles, or $150, annually for every person. The average basic yearly income for the Soviet worker is 6,000 roubles, or approximately $500.

Latest available Soviet budget figures are giving an even higher priority to building up a heavy industry base than in the years immediately preceding the war.

THE FIGURES also indicate that very substantial annual grants from the budget are necessary to keep the economic machine as a whole in working order, aside from outlays for new capital. In the opinion of diplomatic observers in Moscow, the figures also show that the Soviet economic machine would be operating at a loss except for these grants.

Under the current budget, revenues are estimated at 333.5 billion roubles, nearly twenty eight billion dollars, and expenditures at 319 billion roubles, or approximately $2,500,000,000.

Both figures set an all time high for Soviet budgets. Indirect taxation provides about 85 per cent of all revenues. The turn-over tax is expected to yield 201 billion roubles, about $16,500,000,000, almost two thirds of the total receipts.

Major items of expenditures include the following: national economy, 102 billion roubles ($8,500,000,000); social and cultural measures, 83 billion roubles ($6,916,000,000); armaments, 72 billion roubles ($6,000,000,000).

SEVEN-EIGHTHS of the funds mobilized into the budget go to what might be called recurrent annual running expenses of the government, such as maintaining the armed forces and police, administrative and economic apparatus and the furnishing of additional health and recreation services.

Only about one-eighth of the current budget is specially earmarked for new capital investment.

The rapidly growing appropriations for scientific research totalled five billion roubles, about $416,000,000, in 1946.

National defense allocations have dropped considerably and though larger than pre-war figures they now constitute a smaller percentage of total expenditures than in 1940-41.

DIRECT appropriations for the security organizations have expanded extremely rapidly, being estimated at not far below twenty

LEADER OF CARLSON'S RAIDERS SERIOUSLY ILL

PORTLAND, ORE., May 27—Marine Brig. Gen. Evans F. Carlson, commander of the famed Carlson's Raiders during the war, was reported in serious condition today following a heart attack.

The 51-year-old general was given an "even chance of recovery" by doctors at Emanuel hospital, where he is under oxygen after being rushed from his home in Brightwood.

General Carlson suffered two heart attacks last November and was hospitalized three months.

ty billion roubles last year. There was a very sharp rise in these in the appropriations for the ministries of internal affairs and state security between 1945 and 1946.

It is believed this could be due in part to a transfer of some security formations from the armed forces budget. It is also considered probable that the personnel of the security organizations has been substantially increased.

The government's action in raising the cost of food by more than 200 per cent; reduction in food ration-car values, as well as the cleaning up of "capitalistic elements" in the collective farm system, and combating of postwar crime waves, are factors which may have prompted Soviet authorities to increase personnel of the state security organizations.

MANN ON GERMANY

THOMAS MANN, world renowned author, who left his native Germany in 1933 in protest against Hitlerism, spoke in London recently on Germany's future. He suggested that huge training camps for German teachers be set up in British-American zones. These properly trained instructors could then go out to handle German youth, bringing to them cultural and democratic fare. This, Germany badly needs. Mann pointed out, since all her cultural and economic resources have been concentrated on a "barbaric regime" since 1933. The present division of the country into occupational zones makes it hard for Germans to understand the basic philosophies of individual freedom held by the allies.

In all views of the German problem, two matters are invariably emphasized: first, the need for wholesale teacher re-education in order to raise a new crop of youth trained in democratic ways of thinking; second, the difficulty resulting from the occupational zoning of the country. There is evidence that Americans, British and French are more and more breaking down their zonal barriers, but Russia's remains ironbound by itself. Nevertheless, education must be pushed in the three western areas, and that section must be trained as rapidly as possible to democracy. It is not easy to do this, nor can it be done rapidly. It will take much time and great patience. That is all the more reason for enlarging the beginnings made in giving the young Germany of today a sound foundation.

GARDENS OF OTHER FOLKS

GARDEN TOURS are coming more and more to be an American custom. Communities in all parts of the country, at all seasons of the year, are organizing these sight-seeing expeditions into other people's gardens. What a good idea it is!

A different flower arrangement is spotted in one, a better handling of heavy clay soil, a cultivating trick. The well-kept beds, the smell of freshly-turned earth, the vigor of this plot's delphinium, and that plumper's iris, all give visitors new ideas and strengthened inspiration to go home and do likewise.

These jaunts are valuable whether they be into elaborate estates maintaining corps of workers, or if they include only modest little backyard projects, managed by the man of the house and anyone in the family who will help him. This garden gadding is worth while at any time of the year, but perhaps best of all in spring when outdoor ambitions and horticultural hopes are brightest. Then all the summer lies ahead.

These tours can be big affairs embracing a whole city, or simpler undertakings within a neighborhood. They make for improved gardens, and gardens improve everybody.

The present "tide in the affairs of men" looks very untidy.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 27—It would seem to be about time for certain American taxpayers, who have been taking a royal rook from their capital hired hands for many a decade, to be told the facts of life about the congressional record.

Knowing it to be the official, historical record of what transpires in congress, they read it with a certain amount of faith—not knowing that it isn't a truthful record at all.

It's a pleasantly unscrupulous publication, printed at terrific taxpayer expense, which permits a senator or representative to second-guess every single utterance he makes in congress and thus go on record as having said what he wishes he had said—rather than what he actually shouted.

In short, other than for such mathematical things as vote counts, any similarity between what happens in congress and what appears in the official record is the result of, (1) coincidence, (2) members' satisfaction with their true statements, or (3) their honesty in refusing to "doctor" the record.

Of course, millions of words which never were spoken in congress go into the record under the "revise and extend" rule. This permits a senator or representative to read the first sentence of a speech (or nothing at all) and ask unanimous consent to revise and extend his remarks.

Almost inevitably it goes into the record—no matter if it's the poem written by the third-grade daughter of a political boss or an editorial from the Communist Daily Worker.

But those things go into the record's "appendix". What happens in the play-by-play account itself is that a congressman can say one thing on the floor and then see to it that just the opposite point-of-view is printed in the record.

This is done by supplying proofs of the record's copy to the members for their editing and revision—"in case the official stenographers made any mistakes," it says here.

Obviously, some members use this trick for unscrupulous politicking. They can send the copies of their original speech, as given, to the voters who favor that side of a question. Then they can send franked copies of the congressional record to the voters on the other side, after their facile editing pencils have reversed their stands.

That sort of thing, however, is not too common. Far more popular is the practice of covering up embarrassing blunders made on the floor. Typical of that type of maneuver was the trick pulled last week by the dean of the senate, Tennessee's Kenneth McKellar.

He hit the floor triumphantly with a newspaper clipping about the United Nations atomic energy commission. He said it proved the Russians had scored some sort of victory, and in an I-told-you-so manner, reminded fellow senators bitterly that they had confirmed appointees of this "atomic energy commission" over his three-months-long objections. Now they could see what had happened!

DIET AND HEALTH

One Cause of a Back Ache

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHO among us has not at some time or other been afflicted with severe pain in the back? Very few, yet all too often we put up with it while it lasts, and after it is over attribute it rather vaguely to "lumbago."

As a matter of fact such pain often indicates renal colic. This condition is caused by violent contractions of the muscular wall of the tube which leads from the kidney to the bladder. Doctors call this tube the ureter.

Painful Location

Painful contractions in this location are due to some blocking of the ureter and this, in turn, may be caused by many things. For example, a small stone or dried blood clots. On the other hand, bending or twisting of the ureter because of a movable kidney may be responsible.

Perhaps the most common cause of renal colic is the passing of a small stone through the narrow passageway of the ureter. These stones may be made up of various substances such as calcium oxalate or calcium carbonate, uric acid, or various phosphates. The exact cause for the formation of kidney stones is still not known. Diet, infections, and chemical changes in the urine all may play a part.

Agonizing Type

The pain produced by renal colic is perhaps one of the most agonizing types of pain from which people may suffer. The pain is deep in the back and may pass generally into the groin. The pain may be continuous for hours. There may be some tenderness or rigidity or stiffness of the muscles over the affected side. Usually some blood is present in the urine.

The diagnosis of renal colic is usually not difficult because the pain is so severe, and, often, there is blood present in the urine. An X-ray examination is of course valuable in making a diagnosis. Conditions which may produce symptoms like those of renal colic are appendicitis, gallstones, spasms of the bowel, and tumors of the kidney.

Pain-Relieving Drug

The treatment which Dr. Thomas L. Hardy, of Birmingham, England, advises, is the giving of a sedative or pain-relieving drug as soon as the diagnosis of renal colic has been made. Such substances as the nitrites may be of help since they tend to relax muscle spasm. They are taken under the directions of the physician.

Heat applied over the abdomen and the back may also be helpful in relieving the symptoms. The patient is kept in bed until the attack has completely cleared up. The giving of plenty of fluids, at least five pints in twenty-four hours, is advisable. In many instances, a small stone may pass through the ureter and into the urinary bladder, whereupon the pain clears up. In some cases, it may be necessary to perform an operation to remove the stones.

It is important, if a stone is passed, or removed, that it be analyzed to determine its chemical makeup so that regulation of the diet may be used in an effort to prevent the formation of other stones. For example, some kidney stones are made of oxalate. Food such as spinach, tomatoes, strawberries, rhubarb, and asparagus contain a high content of oxalate and should be avoided by a person with oxalate kidney stones. A generous amount of fluid, the oxalates form a soapy substance in the intestines which is not taken up by the body, and thus the oxalate-containing foods will cause no difficulty.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Circleville high school's instrumental musicians, under direction of C. F. Zaenglein, will present their annual Spring concert Friday evening in the school auditorium.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

BILL PULLED Diane down beside him on the davenport, her head against him.

"You're not frightened about it, are you, Di?"

"No. No, of course not."

"Shouldn't you see a doctor?"

"I have."

"You have, already? What did he say? Did he say everything'd be all right?"

"Yes. He said I was in splendid health."

"Then there's not a thing to worry about. But why did you say, a few moments ago, you were sorry?"

Ashamed of that outburst, of the mental torment that had led her to it, Diane turned her face onto his shoulder. "This is enough," she told herself. He was sweet about it, concerned and tender. She said: "It's so soon. And I thought—well, it costs too much!"

He drew her face up to kiss it. "You funny girl, as if we couldn't swing a thing like that!" Then he lifted his hand to the portrait on the wall opposite them. "Hope it's a boy! He'll be William Arden, the fifteenth or so."

"We must speak for a bigger apartment in this building," Bill said the next morning, with the air of having settled that problem during the night.

Diane thought of the little house in the country. Impulsively her lips opened to tell him of it; instead she protested. "Bill, there's no hurry. It won't be till April, sometime."

"Not too far off to decide what we'll do. This location is convenient and not too expensive. One more room is all we'll need, isn't it? By the way, what doctor did you go to?"

"Doctor Everts," Diane answered briefly.

"Who's he?"

"The one who brings the best babies!"

"I'd rather you'd go to Doctor Phelps. Mother thinks there's no one like him."

"Too late. I've practically signed on the dotted line." On a sudden thought Diane dropped her facetiousness. "Bill, you won't tell your mother?"

"Not tell mother? Bill stared at her. "What do you mean?"

"I mean—of course everyone will know some time, but until then—can't we keep it to ourselves? It doesn't concern anyone but ourselves!"

Bill said quickly: "Certainly it concerns Mother. I think she has a right to know. To feel hurt if we don't tell her!"

Diane sighed. "I'm going to hate all the fussing! Though it was Bill's family pride in it against which she really was rebelling. Their right to be proud. William Arden, the fifteenth. They would appropriate her baby before it was born. And she couldn't hope to make Bill understand. Tears of helpless exasperation sprang to her eyes.

Bill saw them and instantly was conciliating. "I won't tell mother until you say I may, Di. We'll leave it at that."

She found herself repeating his last words after he'd gone. "Leave it at that." It had the ring of a compromise. Perhaps that was as far as they'd ever get, together.

Lois telephoned, her voice a high wail. "Thad's staying out in California! Until September! He wired to Danny. That means we'll never finish our movie! And Danny's party's off, because the police are after Gus Schultz again for something and Danny said they'd love to get a lot of us in the housegoes as evidence. I've half made up my mind to go on that cruise with the Barbers; they're not any duller than it is 'round here, just now. I wish you'd go long, Di. We'd get into things on shipboard."

"Wish I could, but I can't."

Diane drew a breath of relief when Lois hung up. She was saved the necessity of making endless excuses for withdrawing from the movie. Lois would go on that cruise, for with Lois half a mind was action; Vicky and Wilma, once started, would fit from one house party to another, for one grew out of another. When fall came they would have forgotten the movie, be off after some other bright idea. The merry-go-round would whirl without her.

And she would be meeting and making a good impression on the people who were right for Bill's best interests. Older women, of Allitha Matthews's acquaintance and the women and their daughters of Mrs. Arden's smaller and even more exclusive circle of friends. Teas and calls, and more teas and afternoon bridge—Diane made a little face at the prospect it offered.

She called Page. She had made a sandwich and had sat down at the kitchenette table to eat it when suddenly she was too alone.

And there was only Page to seek out. She'd ask Page to join her somewhere for lunch. Back in her mind had lurked, ever since the evening of Mrs. Arden's dinner, a desire to square herself with Page for the witless thing she had said about Rufus at the table. She doubted it had disturbed Page, any more than it had Bill, but bringing it into the open, admitting it was silly and that there was nothing to it, would wipe it off the slate.

Dialing Page's number she felt a real nostalgia for the time when their friendship had been strong and untroubled. In school and the first winter after she had come to Grandharbor. "Grandharbor," she had cried when her father had told her. "Page Winston lives there!"

And she had telegraphed promptly to Page. Page had come to the hotel the day after she arrived and for a part of almost every day after that, they had been together. Then less often, when she met Lois and Danny and the others and they rushed her into their gay activities. And then she'd met Bill.

And then she'd met Rufus. Rufus striding toward her, she called his name in a glad voice, pushing a stout woman aside without apology, to reach him.

He was bareheaded, coatless, evidently in a hurry. But he stopped, kept her hand in his clasp a moment, grinning down at her. "Stranger. What's happened to our show? I've been waiting to be called to a rehearsal."

"Oh, that's all off. Thad had to go away and Wilma and Vicky—Can't we go somewhere and talk? It seems ages—"

"I can take five minutes!"

"Let's go in here."

It was a candy shop, with a soda fountain and the usual tables in the back, some long cushioned seats built in the wall. Diane went to one of these, motioned to Rufus to sit down beside her.

"Coke," she said briskly to the waitress who came up.

"Another," added Rufus.

They had only five minutes, which was not long enough for her to unbuckle herself of all that tormented her. "Funny, the way I feel I can say anything to Rufus and he'd understand!" She regarded him with a warm, frank fondness.

Congress Plans Legislation To Revamp Executive Branch

Believe Savings to Taxpayers May Be Ten Billion a Year

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—Congress has its bit in its teeth and plans to enact at this session a law to reorganize and streamline the huge and sprawling executive branch of the federal government. If necessary, it has a collection of stories of extravagance and inefficiency to tell which will make you sit back in your chair and hold on tight.

Not only will this reorganization of the executive branch greatly increase government efficiency, but, according to studies made by government and business experts, may conceivably save American taxpayers around $10,000,000,000 a year.

Rep. Clarence Brown (R), Ohio, has dropped in the legislative hopper H. R. 775, a bill for the establishment of a non-partisan committee to comb the 1,200 or more executive agencies in Washington, with the idea of eliminating the governmental duplication and deadwood that has accumulated through two world wars. The bill will be sponsored in the Senate by Henry Cabot Lodge (R), Massachusetts.

Although hearings will not start on the Brown-Lodge bill for several weeks, it has already attracted such widespread and favorable interest both in and out of Congress, that its passage by a clear majority of both Houses is regarded as a virtual certainty. Since World War I a number of attempts have been made to reorganize the gargantuan executive branch of the government. Congress has enacted laws under three different administrations giving the president, the power to reorganize and streamline the various departments, bureaus and agencies under his control. But nothing of real significance has been accomplished. The various executive agencies instead of being reduced in number, have continued to rapidly increase.

THIRTY YEARS AGO the number of executive establishments of the federal government was 158. In 1932 the number had risen to 521 and by 1944 the number had grown to 1,141. Nobody seems to know the number of these government establishments today, but they are believed to be more than 1,200. The number of civilian employees of these government bureaus have shown a similar expansion; increasing from 438,057 in 1916 to 824,259 in 1936, and then to 2,766,165 in 1946.

During this period the payroll of these employees increased more than 650 per cent, a figure fantastically out of proportion to the increase in the wealth and population of the nation. Today this payroll amounts to approximately $6,250,000,000. This sum is alone about $2,000,000,000 more than the entire cost of the federal government, including debt retirement, back in 1933.

While there are now around 1,200 executive bureaus with headquarters in Washington, with new ones being established every few weeks, the amazing fact is that many of them are merely duplicates of others already in existence, exercising the same authority and performing the same duties and functions.

Today there are 75 government bureaus and agencies exercising authority in the field of transportation alone.

There are 15 different agencies in the housing field. There are 44 agencies dealing with agriculture, 22 with insurance, 93 with government lending, 37 with foreign trade, 37 with public health, 64 with business relations. This is only a partial list of the conflicting and overlapping services.

In spite of this duplication of services, perhaps because of it, it is often impossible for Congress or the public to obtain vital government information. There is no accurate list of the number of executive agencies.

There are 12 agencies administering public lands yet nowhere is there an inventory of these enormous public holdings, which amount to one-fifth of the entire land area of the United States.

Miss Arledge Is Honored At Shower

Miss Carrie Arledge, bride-elect of Roland Quickel, was guest of honor Monday evening at a miscellaneous shower, given by Miss Betty McDonald in the home of the honored guest's sister, Mrs. John Grubb, South Pickaway street.

Yellow and white streamers were artistically draped from the ceiling, ending at a small decorated sprinkling can surrounded with the many appropriate gifts. Suggestive of the bridal shower were tiny yellow umbrellas tied at the ends of every streamer.

Refreshments were served at small tables, decorated in yellow and white appointments to the following guests, Miss Betty Seymour, Mrs. Darnold Wertman, Mrs. Eugene Young, Mrs. Jason McDonald, Mrs. Lee Holbrook, Mrs. R. E. Gosnell, Mrs. Margaret Donaldson, Mrs. Maggie Morris, Mrs. Arthur Cupp, Mrs. Wayne Hatmaker, Miss Ruth Grubb and Mrs. Dexter Arledge, Circleville, Mrs. E. E. Snyder, Mrs. Glenn Dean and Mrs. Leslie Quickel, Columbus.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of them red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

SORORITY TO MEET

Members of Sigma Phi Gamma international sorority will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Ned Plum, East Franklin street, for an important business meeting.

BETTER ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

CHICAGO — American surgeons, physicists, and engineers, after two years of intensive research, have developed new and better artificial limbs for the nation's 20 thousand veterans with amputations. Dr. Paul S. Klopsteg, chairman of the National Research Council's committee on artificial limbs, says that all that remains now is to determine means and methods of producing them on a large scale.

Advisors Named For Nu Phi Mu Group

Mrs. Clyde Wells, North Court street, has been named advisor to Ohio Alpha Theta chapter, unit I, of Nu Phi Mu sorority. Mrs. Harold Dresbach, East Main street, will be assistant advisor to the group. This chapter will be opened tonight at the Presbyterian church here by Mrs. Martha Gillmore, international representative of the sorority.

In the positions of advisor and assistant advisor respectively, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Dresbach become the direct representatives of the international headquarters of Nu Phi Mu, which is located in Kansas City, Missouri.

BIG AIR SHOW TO BE GIVEN MEMORIAL DAY

Denny Brothers. Who Were
Paratroopers During War
At Washington C. H.

Former U. S. Army paratroopers will be featured in an airborne show to be presented at Washington Airpark, Washington C. H., Friday, Memorial Day.

Presenting the show are the Denny brothers—Mill G., who served during the war with the 11th airborne paratroopers and Cal, who was a member of the 508th parachute regiment.

MANY NEW features are planned by the jumping brothers and their company. A double, or "piggyback" jump, is something new to this area. Both brothers jump from a plane at 3,800 feet, one holding on the parachute harness of the other. After the first parachute opens, if the opening shot is not too great, both men ride one chute down to 3,000 feet. Then the bottom jumper drops another 1,000 feet before he opens his own chute.

In the delayed jump from 4,000 feet a public address system will "take the crowd along to see what happens". A word picture will be given by the jumper who drops 2,000 feet into space from a plane going 138 miles an hour before opening his chute.

A MASS formation jump will show a number of parachutes in the air at once and give spectators an idea of what a combat jump looks like.

Japanese silk parachutes will be released over the crowd and they may be kept by spectators.

DEATH CLAIMS J. F. BITTINGER, DEMO LEADER

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — State Democratic circles mourned the death today of J. Freer Bittinger, 61, Ashland, former state chairman of the party and onetime speaker of the house of representatives.

Bittinger, employed as a mutuels cashier at Beulah park race track near Columbus, died en route to a hospital yesterday afternoon following a heart attack.

A native of Ashland county, Bittinger was 30 when he entered politics as county auditor in 1916.

He served continuously in the state legislature from 1928 until 1936. In 1931, he was minority floor leader. Although the Republicans held a one-vote majority, Bittinger was elected speaker of the house in 1934.

In 1936, he was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination as lieutenant governor.

Bittinger was Democratic state executive committee chairman from 1940 to 1942.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body was taken to Ashland for burial.

Bittinger is survived by his wife, a son, Ritchie, and a daughter, Mary Arminda Bittinger.

"Daddy, when will it be tomorrow?"

"Well Sonny, tomorrow never really comes. When the time called tomorrow comes, it will be today."

We on the Norfolk and Western believe that answer makes sense... for the railroad does things today. Tomorrow isn't soon enough.

Today, the N. & W. is working on a $12,000,000 improvement and modernization track and tunnel project on one of the busiest districts of its main line in West Virginia, which will increase operating efficiency, improve safety, and enable the railroad to handle more traffic.

Today, the N. & W. is making important changes in grades and track, and installing Centralized Traffic Control on its line between Portsmouth and Cincinnati, Ohio, at a cost of about $3,000,000, which will provide speedier, safer and more efficient movement of traffic on that district.

Today, the N. & W. is expanding its ocean terminal facilities by constructing one of the largest and most modern merchandise freight piers ever built, with new warehouses and a supporting yard at the Port of Norfolk, in order to handle foreign freight and intercoastal traffic with the greatest possible speed and efficiency. Cost — about $6,000,000.

Today, the N. & W. has on order a fleet of the latest streamlined luxury passenger coaches and the newest type roomette sleeping cars, which involves an expenditure of several millions of dollars.

These additions and improvements are some of the principal things the Norfolk and Western is doing today to provide better railway service. And there are many other things not so big, but important.

In short, this railroad and the Norfolk and Western Family are working tooth and nail to improve their service to, and their relations with, the public... today and every day.

A HOMELAND VACATION

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK—A scene of wild beauty: Swift Current falls. Rockies loom in rear.

By RALPH L. GUYETTE

Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Have you ever found yourself gazing at an artist's conception of one of those super ocean liners—one with a swimming pool on every deck, bowling alleys in the hold, motor cars to carry you about, and all for a hundred dollars a trip, or some such fantastic figure?

Have you ever dreamed of boarding one with the whole family for a quick look at Europe? If you have (and it ought to be fun) I doubt very much if you will make it this year. Reasons? There are two:

1—There are no such liners as yet afloat.

2—For a hundred bucks in this year of 1947, you probably could not get the family across Lake Champlain which, incidentally, is quite narrow.

Inexpensive Vacation

So why not take a try at one of our National Parks? For relaxing beauty, for untouched wilderness, for pure air and sunshine, for vacationing, in other words, they cannot be beat and it will not cost you a fortune either.

Since 1916 when the National Park Service was first established huge tracts of our great country have been preserved in their natural state so that we and our posterity might enjoy parts of America just as they were in the wild and woolly days of Gen. George Custer, Sitting Bull and Billy the Kid.

So, if it is wilderness you want, if it is the good clean outdoors, you will be going to the right spots.

These parks, free from commercial exploitation of any kind, contain the same lakes and waterfalls, the same thriving wildlife, the same relationships between all living and growing things that existed hundreds of years ago.

Here, too, a dollar can be stretched until Washington's mouth is as wide as the Grand Canyon. In these parks there are nearly 10,000 camp sites equipped in most cases with running water, sanitary facilities, outdoor tables and benches, cooking facilities and space for an automobile and tent. The children will dream of it forever.

At Yosemite National Park, for instance, you can camp 30 days for nothing. All you will need is your grub and camping equipment. There is good fishing there, too, and as John Muir once said: "The landscape is a revelation that enriches one's life forever."

If you have a few dollars socked away for the occasion, you can stay at Yosemite lodge, European plan, for $1.75 a day and up, or you can get a completely furnished housekeeping tent for as little as $10 a week.

In most of the parks there are accommodations to fit every purse and diversions of every kind for your summer pleasure.

Yellowstone would be a good bet this year for on March 1 it celebrated its 75th birthday. Containing upwards of two million acres of Wyoming, Montana and Idaho land, this park was once the stamping ground of such famous frontiersmen as Jim Bridger, John Colter, Dan Potts and countless other trappers and hunters.

Here you will see that phenomenal geyser, Old Faithful, which has been erupting approximately every 60 minutes for years and perhaps for hundreds of years. Here you will see more not spring and geysers than in any other place on earth.

You will see grizzly and black bear, Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep, elk, antelope and moose. You will see so much wild life that you will think you are boarding the Ark of Noah.

Pink Cliffs in Utah

However, for bewitching colors and for sheer beauty of formation, you would need to travel a long way before you would see anything to surpass the Pink cliffs of Bryce Canyon National Park in Utah. In this wilderness of rock, the wind and the rain have cut myriads of domes, spires and temples to rival rock formations existing anywhere on the earth's crust.

During the last 200,000,000 years, say geologists, the elements have been at work creating these masterpieces of natural art. First, the sea came and covered the land completely; then broad rivers lashed its roughened surface. Finally, as though to uncover its hidden beauty, the desert winds swept out of nowhere, drying up the water and leaving Bryce Canyon for all the world to see.

So, if you are going vacationing this year, why not try a homeland park. Where could you see more and do more for less? You live in the same country with all of this magnificent nature. You pay taxes for its support. Why not take a look at it? It is yours.

UNDULANT FEVER SITUATION HERE NOT ALARMING

Several Circleville residents Tuesday were reportedly suffering from undulant fever. However, both the city health office and the Pickaway county health department said the situation was in no way alarming.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said there were no officially reported cases of undulant fever in the county outside of Circleville. The city health office disclosed that physicians have recently reported no new cases of the malady although it was stated the office has record of four cases described as chronic.

Undulant fever is an ailment of remittent character and is said to be contracted mostly from milk, meats, and some kinds of vegetables. Most of the cases, it has been claimed, are transmitted through unpasteurized milk.

Although most of the milk distributed in Circleville is the pasteurized type, quantities of unpasteurized milk also are consumed in the community.

'HIT-SKIP' MOTORIST LEAVES YOUTH IN ROAD

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—Franklin county sheriff's deputies were searching today for a hit-skip driver who struck an 18-year-old youth in Columbus, late last night and left him lying in the road.

The sheriff's office said that Richard W. Evans, 18, Columbus, was injured shortly after he got out of a car in which he had accepted a ride. He was found west of the Olentangy river bridge.

Evans was taken to University hospital where authorities reported his condition today as being "good."

Scioto Booms To 15.60 Feet, Covering Hundreds Of Acres

RIVER BELIEVED AT PEAK, SLATED TO RECEDE NOW

Weatherman Holds Out Hope Of At Least Temporary Relief From Rain

Stage of the Scioto river at Circleville was 15.60 feet at 8 a. m. Tuesday. This level is 1.60 feet above the 14-foot flood stage. Announcing that Monday night's rainfall measured one-tenth of an inch, Charles Carter, Circleville observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, said he believed the river had reached its crest Tuesday morning and that—barring more heavy rains—the waters would recede steadily. Carter added that at 8 a. m. Tuesday the river stage had declined 8 inches at Columbus.

The measurement at Circleville was 13.65 feet at 8 a. m. Monday and 14.80 feet at 5 p. m. Monday.

Hundreds of acres of lowlands near Circleville were partly inundated by high waters.

Although skies were cloudy Tuesday morning the official weather forecast of "sunny and warmer" held out some hope to many Pickaway county farmers far behind their plowing and planting schedules.

THREE-ALARM FIRE GUTS THREE COLUMBUS STORES

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — A three-alarm fire early today gutted two Columbus stores in a downtown office building.

The Modern Youth shoe store at 179 South High street and the Harmony record shop at 177 South High street were burned out and offices in the upper three stories of the structure were damaged from smoke and water. Fire Chief Clarence E. Ogburn said he could not estimate the amount of damage caused by the blaze.

Ogburn said the fire started in a waste paper basket in the basement and burned up into the ground floor stores.

Thirty minutes after the third alarm was turned in fire fighters called for two more trucks and an extra turret to prevent the fire from spreading.

Flames shot out of the building and heat from the burning phonograph records in the record shop was intense.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours before it was sufficiently under control to allow some of the trucks to return to their stations.

YOUTH PASSES SCHOLARSHIPS EXAMS FOR FOUR

DAYTON, O., May 27—An 18-year-old Dayton schoolboy was faced today with making a tougher decision than he had ever had to make in an examination.

As a matter of fact, taking examinations brought about his dilemma.

To make sure that he wasn't left out in the cold in his quest for a successful career in chemical engineering, Charles D. Graham, Jr., took exams for four different college scholarships.

KIWANIS HEARS MEMORIAL TALK

The Rev. L. C. Sherburne Urges Members To Work For Better America

"If the men we honor on Memorial Day were here today, I believe they would urge us to devote ourselves to our country and see that the democratic way of life continues," the Rev. L. C. Sherburne told fellow members of the Kiwanis club Monday evening.

Giving the annual Memorial Day address to the club, the rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church stated that the usual observance of the holiday is good but "external". He listed several ways in which we could help make "our country the kind of America we ought to have".

The Rev. Mr. Sherburne suggested we look at the political situation and try to improve it; give attention to the economic situation, see that all, including handicapped veterans have jobs; check on industry and labor, see that the laboring class is treated right but "true Americans oppose crippling strikes"; help make the educational system better; improve the home life.

CONTINUING the minister said there should be military preparation to guard us against "powerful, jealous nations who would welcome a chance to pounce on a defenseless America". He said he opposed war but does believe "it is utterly folly to be unprepared". He declared any atheistic philosophy is dangerous and urged his listeners to be on guard against such policy.

The Rev. Mr. Sherburne said a country could not progress without sound morals. He declared "a country which believes in God will be a country bound to endure."

The speaker was introduced by the program chairman, Harold Defenbaugh.

Jim Kirkpatrick was a guest at the meeting. Secretary G. Guy Campbell was welcomed back following his recent serious illness.

PRESIDENT SUBMITS NEW HOUSING PLAN

GOP Told Farm Cuts Political Suicide

REP. SABATH OPENS DRIVE ON ECONOMY MOVE

Republicans Admit 32 Percent Agriculture Reductions May Not Stand

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 27—The Republican economy campaign cleared a major hurdle today when the house voted 189 to 170 against restoration of 183 million dollars cut from agricultural funds for 1948.

WASHINGTON, May 27—Rep. Sabath (D) Ill., warned Republicans today that it would mean their "political suicide" if they supported the 32 percent cut made by the GOP leadership in 1948 agricultural funds.

The dean of the house accused the Republican leadership of having applied a "gag" to hamper restoration of the 383 million, 427 thousand dollars reduction made in the agricultural department's one billion, 183 million 571 thousand dollar budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Sabath's speech launched the Democratic attack upon the drastic cuts made by the economy-minded house appropriations committee in the annual farm supply bill. The reductions also came under Republican fire.

REP. DIRKSEN (R) Ill., chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee on agriculture, conceded that a tough battle was ahead to hold the line on the 32 percent cut in agricultural funds recommended by his group.

Dirksen anticipated that an almost solid bloc of Democrats would be joined by some Republicans in voting to restore (Continued on Page Two)

ANOTHER SUGAR STAMP TO BE GOOD AUGUST 1

Pickaway county housewives Tuesday had been assured of more sugar before the summer is over.

The agriculture department announced that a third 1947 sugar rationing stamp good for 10 pounds will be good not later than August 1.

Spare stamp No. 12 may be used at once instead of waiting until June 1, it was announced.

The department said that if improvement in sugar supplies continues, additional sugar above the 35 pounds originally scheduled for the year, will be made available to consumers.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Mr. Truman has given us the unusual spectacle of a busy executive who has time for his family.

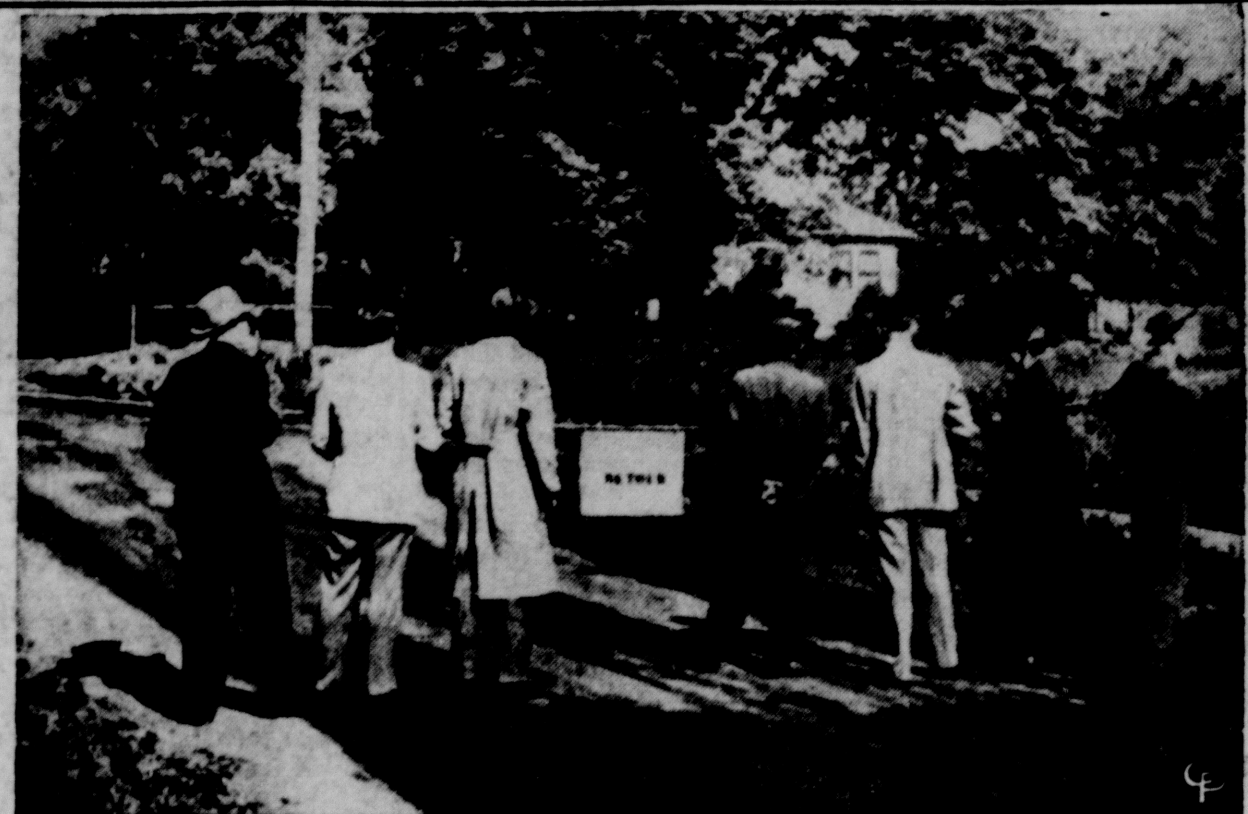

The cemeteries are full of "successful men" who were strangers to the home folks.

And world affairs aren't much different. There are many people who have plans for saving the world but none for spending an evening with the family.

In 1948 voters may not remember whether Harry had a world-saving plan in 1947, but many will remember one unplanned sentence he spoke of his mother.

"She sat up with me many times when I needed her," he said, "and I want to reciprocate when she needs me."

Those words may not make the pages of international history but to people who put home and family first they make a "Truman doctrine" we can understand.

CURIOUS neighbors and newsmen watch the home of Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 94-year-old gravely ill mother of the President, from behind a road barricade set up to bar disturbing street traffic. The President, playing a dual role as the nation's executive and a devoted son, has been at his mother's side for the last ten days.

Pessimistic Forecast On Crops Made By Kruse

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—An estimate that less than five per cent of Ohio's corn crop has been planted was made today by Elmer Kruse, director of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration in Ohio.

"The constant rains of the last few weeks makes for a very gloomy outlook," Kruse told International News Service. "Regardless of what the weather is from now on, there will be a huge loss to Ohio farmers in oats and corn production."

Kruse pointed out that only 25 per cent of the Ohio oats crop was planted and that less than 25 per cent of the ground to be sown to corn and soybeans has even been broken.

INCREASED sowings of soybeans will be the main result of the rainy weather, he said, "providing soy bean seed can be obtained."

Kruse pointed out that the average corn planted in the state takes from 110 to 115 days to mature thus necessitating very late frosts if the corn is to mature properly.

"Even if fall were late," Kruse explained, "quality of the Ohio corn crop would suffer."

Scarcity of seed corn of the type which matures in 90 to 100 days, adds to the poor outlook for this crop, Kruse pointed out.

Mauthausen Camp Officials And Guards Hanged At Landsberg Prison

LANDSBERG, GERMANY, May 27—Twenty-two condemned officials and guards of the notorious Nazi Mauthausen concentration camp were hanged today at Landsberg prison.

This group will be followed to the gallows tomorrow by 27 others in the largest mass execution of Nazi war criminals yet ordered in occupied Germany.

The death sentences were ordered by an American war crimes court which convicted the former camp operators of atrocities and murder.

GOP, DEMOCRATS HOLD BANQUETS, TALK POLITICS

NEW YORK, May 27—National politics with an eye on 1948 took the headlines today following separate Republican and Democratic banquets.

The Republicans paid $50 a plate to hear Gov. Thomas E. Dewey chide the Truman administration about its $25 million campaign to drive Communists out of government positions.

Dewey said: "The best way to avoid having Communists in government is not to appoint them."

Navy Secretary James Forrestal was the principal speaker at the $100 a plate Democratic dinner. He delivered a strong defense of American labor and praised Mayor William O'Dwyer who some Democrats are booming for governor.

MOSES HANDED TWO SENTENCES

Reformatory Terms On Two Charges Given Holdup Man By Judge

Robert Michael Moses, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Columbus, was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory, Tuesday noon, by Judge William D. Radcliff.

Moses was sentenced to 10 to 25 years for armed robbery and to 1 to 20 years for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The terms are to run concurrently.

On May 17 Moses was arraigned in Pickaway county common pleas court and at that time he pleaded not guilty to three indictments. At the suggestion of his counsel, Attorney George Gerhardt, the court Tuesday quashed the third indictment charging Moses with resisting an officer.

MOSES on the night of April 30 robbed Harold Sharpe, Circleville used car dealer, of his auto and $330 in a stickup on U. S. Route 23, north of Circleville. (Continued on Page Two)

ARCHITECT PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO 'GYP' SALES

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—A Worthington landscape architect who was indicted on ten counts of fraudulent sales of lots to veterans, was free today under $2,500 bond after pleading innocent to the charges.

Harrison M. Boyd, 54, posted the bail following his arraignment before Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Cecil J. Randall.

Boyd was indicted secretly last week by the Franklin county grand jury and was arrested early yesterday morning.

State Highway Patrol Warns Holiday Drivers

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—The state highway patrol offered some advice today to those who want to travel by automobile over the Memorial Day weekend and yet live.

Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the patrol, called upon every motorist and every pedestrian to obey a seven-rule formula to lower the toll of eight dead and 143 injured in Ohio traffic last Memorial Day.

COLONEL MINGLE'S recommendations were: 1. Stay on your side of the road

Youth, 16, Admits Shooting 4 Children

LANSING, MICH., May 27—A love-sick 16-year-old boy today reportedly confessed the gun-slaying of four children in a field of wild flowers because the eldest girl refused him dates.

The youth is Oliver Terpening, Imlay City, who was captured by a ruse near Toledo after an all-night hunt by Canadian and United States authorities. Imlay City is about 50 miles northeast of Detroit near the international border.

The youth was immediately brought back to state police headquarters in Lansing for questioning. Constables Thomas Gray and William Warner who arrested him in Lucas County, O., were quoted as saying he had confessed slaying the four children of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith with his .22 caliber rifle.

The victims were Barbara, 16, who had refused to "go out" with the boy despite his frequent pleas; Stanley, 14; Gladys, 12, and Janet, 2. When the bodies were found in the field last night the two older girls still clutched bunches of violets in their hands.

NORMAN DOMBROSKI, a Toledo painter, was credited with capturing the youth who had slipped through an elaborate police blockade at Port Huron, the city in which he abandoned his father's automobile.

Dombroski played a "lucky hunch" and picked up the hitchhiking boy near his home after hearing a radio broadcast of the

MILLIKIN SEES TAX BILL OKAY

Democratic Postponement Move Defeated 48-44 In House

WASHINGTON, May 27—Sen. Millikin (R) Col. predicted prompt house acceptance of the senate's July 1 tax reduction bill today following his four-vote defeat of a Democratic postponement motion.

Encouraged by what they called a "high water mark" victory, GOP leaders drove for senate passage of the four billion dollar tax relief bill by Thursday, when congress plans to recess for the Memorial Day weekend.

Some Democrats gave the majority little chance of achieving its speedup goal. But they admitted the measure would pass.

MILIKIN, chairman of the senate finance committee, said the house would "not take long" in accepting the senate revisions in its bill, even if the measure was sent to a conference committee.

At the same time he forecast a vote on major Democratic amendments even "better" than the 48-to-44 rejection of the June 10 postponement (Continued on Page Two) hunted youth's description. Without raising his passenger's suspicion, the motorist stopped at a constable's office at 8:30 a. m. and announced:

"I have a boy out in the car who answers the description of the boy wanted in Michigan for murder. Do you want him?" "You bet we want him," said Constable Warner.

Warner and Constable Gray then went to the car and seized young Terpening, who first denied his identity and gave them a fictitious address in Toledo.

"I couldn't find any such address," Warner said. "So I said to him, 'now come clean. What happened?'"

"Then the boy broke down and admitted that he killed the four children yesterday afternoon and hitchhiked here. He showed us his driver's license and it had (Continued on Page Two)

NATIONAL GUARD TO FORT HAYES

Regular Army Post To Be Used By Guardsmen; 'Right Of Entry' Granted

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—Fort Hayes, veteran of the last four of its country's wars, was turning the page to a new chapter today.

Like many of the thousands of men who passed through its gates in World War II, it will doff the insignia of the regular army and enlist in the National Guard.

The Fifth Service Command will pass into oblivion Saturday, to be replaced by the Ohio military district. With the change will start the departure of practically all the regular Army offices and units now stationed there.

Closing of the Columbus installation as a regular Army post was announced many weeks ago, but the speculation that the reorganized Ohio National Guard might take it over was confirmed only late yesterday.

MAJ. GEN. Chester W. Goble, adjutant general of the ONG, announced that the Ohio river division of the Army engineers at Cincinnati had revealed a war department decision to give the ONG "right of entry" to 55 of (Continued on Page Two)

VISHINSKY SEES PEACE DESPITE 'WAR THREATS'

MOSCOW, May 27—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky gave assurance today that Russia foresees peace "for a long time."

He wrote in a Pravda article that "the cause of peace is secure" despite efforts "by aggressive elements to provoke war." Vishinsky said: "There have not been a few such attempts, as shown, for instance, by the provocative speeches of some wild American senators."

The Soviet minister named Sens. Elmer Thomas (D) Okla., Richard B. Russell (D) Ga., and Owen Brewster (R) Me., as "instigating war against the Soviet Union."

He added that "all such attempts are doomed to failure." Vishinsky wrote that Russia's abolishment of the death penalty was a direct result of the prospect for a long peace.

The dropping of the death penalty—a wartime measure—became effective today. Death sentences not yet carried out will be commuted to 25 years imprisonment at hard labor.

SWEARINGEN TO LONDON CHURCH

First Methodist Pastor For Four Years Transferred To New Charge

The Rev. Clarence Swearingen, pastor of the First Methodist church in Circleville for the last four years, will leave shortly to serve the London church. Announcement of the transfer of the Rev. Mr. Swearingen was made at closing sessions of the Ohio Methodist conference in Cincinnati.

The Rev. Mr. Swearingen came to Circleville from the Third Avenue Methodist church in Columbus. He formerly served at Williamsport.

He is a member of the Circleville Rotary club and has been active in the Pickaway County Ministerial association and other local activities.

CINCINNATI, May 27—The Ohio conference of the Methodist church pressed toward ending its annual meeting today, a day later than originally planned. Announcement of pastoral assignments was to feature today's activities.

The conference yesterday established a minimum for pastors' salaries of $1,700 per year with an extra allowance of $100 for each child.

A pension was established of $25 per year for each year of service.

Completing a 13-member clerical delegation to the 1948 jurisdictional conference in Indianapolis, the state body added three central Ohio ministers to ten previously selected. Delegates named yesterday were the Rev. George W. Herd, Lancaster, Dr. D. Finley Wood, Worthington, and Dr. Walter P. Castoe, Columbus.

Alternate delegates chosen included: Dr. Charles Murphy, Cincinnati; Dr. Gaston Foote, Dayton and the Rev. W. L. Nofcier, Kenton.

JUNE 'DAIRY MONTH'

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—June, peak production period for Ohio's herds, was proclaimed "dairy month" by Governor Herbert today. Citing the importance of the industry to Ohio's welfare and declaring that "milk is nature's more nearly perfect food," Herbert called on Ohioans "to increase appreciation and consumption of milk and dairy products and to improve our standard of health and our enjoyment of dairy foods."

PROGRAM WILL COMBINE ALL PRESENT GROUPS

Truman Seeks More Effective Administration Of Federal Housing Activities

WASHINGTON, May 27—President Truman sent to congress today a new housing plan which places the government's major permanent housing programs in a single establishment.

The chief executive declared in an accompanying message that the plan provides the necessary framework for a more effective administration of federal housing activities in the post-war period.

All of the government's housing agencies and functions are placed under the reorganization plan, in a housing and home finance agency which will consolidate agencies and functions formerly scattered among many different establishments.

THE PRESIDENT said he would promptly submit to the senate nominations of officers to head the new housing set-up. Meanwhile, existing housing officials are to perform temporarily the functions of the new officers.

Mr. Truman said that the plan "simplifies and increases the efficiency of permanent housing functions." It also provides for administration of certain emergency housing activities pending their liquidation.

MR. TRUMAN pointed out that the provision of adequate housing will remain a major national objective throughout the next decade. He added:

"The primary responsibility for meeting housing needs rests, and must continue to rest, with private industry, as I have stated on other occasions."

SUBMITTED to congress under the second war powers act, the housing reorganization plan groups nearly all permanent housing agencies and functions of the government, as well as remaining emergency housing activities, in a housing and home finance agency.

The following constituent agencies are provided for: A home loan bank board to administer the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., the Home Owners Loan Corp., and the functions of the Federal Home Loan bank board and its members;

M R S . TRUMAN BETTER AFTER NEW REVERSE

GRANDVIEW, MO., May 27—President Truman's 94-year-old mother was "holding her own" again today after a temporary loss of ground in her fight for life during the night.

Mrs. Martha E. Truman suffered a bad chill during the night after a remarkable new rally yesterday.

The President, from his mother's bedside in the Grandview cottage, said shortly before 11 a. m. EST., that she had recovered from her setback of the night in fairly good shape.

He said his mother is now sleeping and holding her own.

The President added that there has been no material change since yesterday, but that he does not yet know what her rally means in the terms of the outcome of her critical condition. A saddened chief executive earlier had reported his mother's reverse during the night.

funds to the $1,188,571,318 bill which the appropriations committee reduced to $805,143,576, a cut of $383,427,742. This is about 40 per cent less than the agriculture department is now receiving.

The house met at 10 a. m. EST., an hour earlier than usual, to take up the measure whose consideration was delayed a day by the death of Rep. Bradley (R) Mich. The entire day was expected to be taken up with formal debate, with the voting beginning tomorrow. The leadership hoped to complete action by nightfall.

THE RIGHT to restore at least part of the cuts was being led by Rep. Hope (R) Kans., chairman of the house agriculture committee, and Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee.

Attempts were to be made to retain for the agriculture department the 148 million dollars in customs receipts rescinded to the treasury, restore part of the cut made in the operating expenses for soil conservation, and increase funds for the school lunch program. The $26,600,000 cut in funds of the rural electrification administration also drew fire.

The 32 per cent decrease was affected largely by reductions in funds for soil conservation benefit payments, school lunch program, farm tenant loans, farmers' production and subsistence loans, farm tenant mortgage insurance, REA, crop insurance, farm research, and the forest service.

WARNER SAID he learned no further details because it is illegal in Ohio to question a juvenile suspect "beyond finding out the bare details."

State police ballistics tests at East Lansing had established that a Terpening's 22-caliber rifle was the weapon which killed Barbara Smith, who had refused him "dates," and her younger brother and two sisters.

All four children were shot through the head as they were picking flowers on a grassy slope near their farm home, nine miles northwest of Imlay City.

motion sponsored by Sen. George (D) Ga.

Sen. Lucas (D) Ill. virtually conceded defeat in advance on his substitute bill which incorporates the two principal changes sought by minority senators. One of these would boost personal exemptions by $100. The other would give husbands and wives in all states the right to split their income for tax purposes.

AT THE SAME time Lucas indicated his opposition to any attempt to write the "Split-income" proviso into the tax bill without his accompanying exemption increase. The Democratic whip explained:

"If you put in just the community property amendment, you give 750 million dollars more to upper bracket taxpayers. That would throw the tax structure all out of joint. You have to do the two things together or an inequity results for the low-income group."

the more than 100 buildings on the post.

General Goble explained that the buildings would be occupied by 30 units of the guard and the warehouses and offices of the U. S. property and disbursing officer for Ohio. These buildings do not include residences and a large barracks, which the city of Columbus is seeking to relieve the housing shortage, or the post hospital, which reportedly will be turned over to the public health service.

Brig. Gen. Kenneth M. Cooper, ONG chief of staff, explained that granting of the "right of entry" was a temporary device to provide the guard with use of the property until a formal lease can be agreed upon between the state and the war department.

HEADQUARTERS of the 37th division and of many subsidiary units will be established at the post, according to General Cooper. In addition, some Columbus units of the ONG will use buildings as armories and the still other buildings and grounds will be used for the storage of ONG vehicles, supplies and equipment.

The chief of staff said that the post would not be used for any training more extensive than regular drills.

Officers at Fort Hayes said that many of the functions of the expiring Fifth Service Command will be transferred to Second Army headquarters at Baltimore and that other Army offices would be moved to new locations. Both military and civilian personnel will be trimmed sharply after this week, although no exact figures were available.

KIDNAPED GUARD FREED BY SIX YOUNG ESCAPEES

MANSFIELD, O., May 27—Six escaped inmates from the Mansfield men's reformatory abandoned a stolen prison truck and left a kidnaped guard trussed up with wire at Grand Rapids near Napoleon early today as an 11-state alarm was flashed by the state highway patrol.

The guard, David Robinson, 35, Shelby, who was forced at knife-point to signal a guard to let the truck through the reformatory gate yesterday, telephoned Mansfield officials that he was unharmed. Robinson said that the youths had dispersed after leaving him in the truck.

Meanwhile, Mansfield Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke ordered an immediate change in regulations governing release of the institution's trucks through the gates.

YOUTH JAILED HERE AFTER 30 MINUTE CHASE

Grabbed in a South Court street all-night restaurant following a 30-minute police hunt, after he abandoned the automobile he had borrowed, Harold Knece, 21, truck driver, Route 3, Circleville, was in the city jail Tuesday awaiting a hearing before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

Patrolmen Alva Shasteen and John W. McGinnis were cruising at 3:10 a. m. Tuesday and they sighted a car with no lights at South Court and Corwin streets. As the police car approached the occupant of the unlighted machine backed it against a telephone pole at South Court and Mill streets. He then leaped from the car and ran through nearby yards with the officers in hot pursuit.

Thirty minutes later the patrolmen arrested Knece in the restaurant on a charge of driving an automobile without lights.

John Moore, Route 3, Circleville, in whose home Knece lives, told police the sedan was his property and that he loaned the car to Knece at midnight Monday.

MOSES HANDED TWO SENTENCES

After ejecting Sharpe from the car the six-foot 200-pound bandit drove toward Columbus but was overtaken by State Highway Patrolman Clyde E. Wells.

Opposite Forest cemetery, while in the highway patrol car, Moses produced a 32-caliber revolver, menacing Patrolman Wells, but the officer wrested the weapon from Moses, who then leaped from the machine but surrendered after running about 30 feet after Patrolman Wells warned that he would shoot.

Sharpe's money was not recovered. After the sheriff, deputies and state highway patrolmen had searched for it for several days Moses disclosed he had "smuggled" the cash out of the jail and into the hands of a friend who visited him there.

GIBSON SENT TO MANSFIELD ON THEFT CHARGE

James Harding Gibson, 26, Huntington, W. Va., was sentenced Tuesday to one to seven years in the Mansfield Reformatory on each of two grand larceny counts.

The penalty was imposed by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway county common pleas court after Gibson changed his plea to guilty under both indictments. He entered an innocent plea when arraigned May 17. Judge Radcliff decreed that the two terms are to run concurrently.

The indictments charged that Gibson stole a $55 overcoat belonging to Gerald Hanley and a $38 radio owned by Jack Hatz. Sheriff Charles Radcliff said that Gibson and William Dale Scott, 20, "bicycle bandit" who held up the "Green Lantern" cafe on West Main street, will probably be transferred from the county jail Wednesday to the Mansfield institution, and that Thomas Irvin, 36, of 157 West Main street, an admitted forger, will likely be removed Wednesday to the Ohio Penitentiary.

Scott was sentenced Monday by Judge Radcliff to serve 10 to 25 years, and Irvin was sentenced to one to seven years.

CLARK SUGGESTS NEW NAME FOR MERGING TOWNS

'Twin Town' Offered As Tag
For Baltimore And
Basil Combined

Distinction of christening two merged towns in Ohio may go to Fred C. Clark, Circleville mortician.

The towns of Baltimore and Basil, adjoining in northern Fairfield county, recently decided to consolidate, and an appropriate name for the twin communities is now being sought.

A newspaper at Baltimore recently published Mr. Clark's suggestion that the merged towns be named either "Twin Town" or "Twin Towns".

THE PROPOSAL was made in a letter sent by Mr. Clark. It said:

"Congratulations to both the leadership and the people of Baltimore and Basil upon their decision to join forces and combine communities under one name. Many times a traveler through the twin cities I feel that the decision reflects wisdom and aliveness among the people responsible for this progressive change. Furthermore, I am confident that the results of the change will prove once more that 'in union there is strength'."

"SHAKESPEARE said that 'a rose by any other name would be as sweet'. But to the people of the twin towns, Baltimore and Basil may never be the same under another name, as it is very likely that many changes will come, all to the good, with the change from dual to single identity."

"Since Baltimore and Basil have been known for so long as to so many people as the 'twin towns' it seems to me that the transition may be accomplished with a minimum of misunderstanding and a maximum of valuable community publicity if 'Twin Town' or

'Twin Towns' is adopted as the official name of the new joint venture.

"Such a name has the definite advantage of being specific in meaning, easy to remember, and sufficiently catchy to attract attention and contribute to the reputation and prosperity of the new community."

SCHOOL BILL AGAIN DELAYED BY COMMITTEE

Senate Rejects Cigaret Tax
To Pay Bonus: Long
Session Sure

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — A conference committee on the soldier bonus and a house-senate deadlock on schools and appropriations wrecked hopes today of winding up the work of the Ohio legislature next week.

The senate first refused to go along with house amendments to the soldier bonus bill, which would levy an extra cent-a-pack cigarette tax to pay part of the 300 million dollar bonus cost. The house was expected today to insist on its amendments and ask for a conference committee to work out house-senate differences.

Later, the house rules committee again refused to place the 83 million dollar Daniels-Cramer school bill on Wednesday's calendar, which probably means it will not be acted on this week.

THE SENATE finance committee, meanwhile, was holding up the 565 million dollar general budget bill until the house acts on the senate-approved school bill.

Committee Chairman Al Daniels (R-Greenfield) asserted that the final amount carried in the school bill, which the house education committee cut from 88 to 83 millions a year, would have to be placed in the budget bill.

The house finance committee also was having its troubles, with section meetings scheduled again today in an effort to cut the postwar improvements bill from 81 millions as approved by Governor Herbert to 54 millions, which is all the money available if a 75 million dollar first payment on the bonus remains in the budget bill now before the senate group.

THE BONUS bill became entangled in legislative red tape when Sen. D. A. Liggett (R-Belle Center) urged his colleagues to vote against concurrence in the house amendments.

As passed by the senate, the cost of paying a maximum $400 bonus would be split between a million dollar a month take from the state's revenues and a levy on real estate. The cigarette tax inserted by the house would all but obviate the necessity for taxing real estate, but would leave real estate pledged to guarantee salability of the bonds.

The senate today takes up the bill to fix a flat $10 license fee for all auto licenses, while the house votes on several important measures.

Chief among them for interest was the bill to regulate strip mining of coal, which is being pushed by Governor Herbert. There was a persistent rumor that a powerful Cleveland political boss had pressured the Cuyahoga county delegation to vote against the measure, with the result that the vote of the Clevelanders was being watched with unusual interest.

OTHER BILLS which the house will consider are the Shepard omnibus elections reform measure, the perennially-controversial Christian Science bill, a bill to halt payment of old age pensions to those in public institutions, and a bill to increase the powers of the highway patrol.

The house last night passed nine bills, including measures to pay the medical expenses of old age pensioners up to $200 and

EDDY REVEALS ENLISTMENTS IN NAVAL RESERVE

Several Men From This Area
Enroll In Inactive
V-6 Navy Program

R. B. Eddy, chief petty officer in charge of the Chillicothe Navy recruiting station, Tuesday announced the enrollment of several men from the Circleville area in the V-6 inactive naval reserve during the special week designated as "Operation Naval Reserve".

Enrollments from this area include: Circleville: William W. Shelton, Arthur Calvin Barr, Richard Cutright Shaw, Carl Kenneth Radcliff, Oral Leon Sims, Clark

Ellsworth Martin and Lowell G. Ridenour.
Ashville: Thomas Wright Purcell.

New Holland: David Junior Ankrum and Candy Quesinberry.
Williamsport: George King Jr. and Leos James Seaton.
Clarksburg: William Allen Dawson and William Ross Boyles.
Adelphi: George Beeman Congrove.

CHIEF EDDY also called attention of high school graduates to the opportunities in the field of electronics and radio controlled devices still open to young men who enlist in the regular Navy.

Further information may be obtained from Navy recruiters at the Legion home here every Friday.

Economy

When you buy a modern, high quality, gas range, you buy ECONOMY . . . . because a GOOD gas range costs less. There's little or no cost for installation — and if you decide to move, your new gas range can be connected easily and cheaply. — As for the fuel itself, cooking with gas costs so little that it isn't necessary to economize. Less than a dollar's worth of gas a month supplies the average family's cooking needs.

RUSSIANS PAY THIRD OF WAGES TO GOVERNMENT

Average Annual Tax Bill Is
$150; Income About
$500 Per Year

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager,
International News Service

NEW YORK, May 27—Nearly one third of the earned income of workers in Russia today is paid back to the government in the form of taxes.

The average tax bill is around 1,800 roubles, or $150, annually for every person. The average basic yearly income for the Soviet worker is 6,000 roubles, or approximately $500.

Latest available Soviet budget figures show that the government is giving an even higher priority to building up a heavy industry base than in the years immediately preceding the war.

THE FIGURES also indicate that very substantial annual grants from the budget are necessary to keep the economic machine as a whole in working order, aside from outlays for new capital. In the opinion of diplomatic observers in Moscow, the figures also show that the Soviet economic machine would be operating at a loss except for these grants.

Under the current budget, revenues are estimated at 333.5 billion roubles, nearly twenty eight billion dollars, and expenditures at 319 billion roubles, or approximately $2,500,000,000.

Both figures set an all time high for Soviet budgets. Indirect taxation provides about 85 per cent of all revenues. The turn-over tax is expected to yield 201 billion roubles, about $16,500,000,000, almost two thirds of the total receipts.

Major items of expenditures include the following: national economy, 102 billion roubles ($8,500,000,000); social and cultural measures, 83 billion roubles ($6,916,000,000); armaments, 72 billion roubles ($6,000,000,000).

SEVEN-EIGHTHS of the funds mobilized into the budget go to what might be called recurrent annual running expenses of the government, such as maintaining the armed forces and police, administrative and economic apparatus and the furnishing of additional health and recreation services.

Only about one-eighth of the current budget is specially earmarked for new capital investment.

The rapidly growing appropriations for scientific research totalled five billion roubles, about $416,000,000, in 1946.

National defense allocations have dropped considerably and though larger than pre-war figures they now constitute a smaller percentage of total expenditures than in 1940-41.

DIRECT appropriations for the security organizations have expanded extremely rapidly, being estimated at not far below twenty

LEADER OF CARLSON'S RAIDERS SERIOUSLY ILL

PORTLAND, ORE., May 27—Marine Brig. Gen. Evans F. Carlson, commander of the famed Carlson's Raiders during the war, was reported in serious condition today following a heart attack.

The 51-year-old general was given an "even chance of recovery" by doctors at Emaul hospital, where he is under oxygen after being rushed from his home in Brightwood.

General Carlson suffered two heart attacks last November and was hospitalized three months.

ty billion roubles last year. There was a very sharp rise in these in the appropriations for the ministries of internal affairs and state security between 1945 and 1946.

It is believed this could be due in part to a transfer of some security formations from the armed forces budget. It is also considered probable that the personnel of the security organizations has been substantially increased.

The government's action in raising the cost of food by more than 200 per cent; reduction in food ration-car values, as well as the cleaning up of "capitalistic elements" in the collective farm system, and combating of postwar crime waves, are factors which may have prompted Soviet authorities to increase personnel of the state security organizations.

FOR YOUR OWN PROTECTION
BUY TODAY THE FHA WAY!

If you're thinking of buying an older home or one newly built, you've probably wondered how you could protect yourself against possible inflation in today's market.

Insist on financing the purchase of your home with a mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. That will give you an expert, unbiased opinion of its value.

There are other good reasons for FHA financing: Analysis of the site, and neighborhood; inspection of the property for compliance with FHA standards; loans up to 90% of appraised value on newly built homes, and up to 80% on older homes; terms as long as from 20 to 25 years; convenient monthly payments which include payment on principal, interest, taxes, hazard insurance and other fixed charges.

Let us tell you more about the FHA way to debt-free home ownership.

MANN ON GERMANY

THOMAS MANN, world renowned author, who left his native Germany in 1933 in protest against Hitlerism, spoke in London recently on Germany's future. He suggested that huge training camps for German teachers be set up in British-American zones. These properly trained instructors could then go out to handle German youth, bringing to them cultural and democratic fare. This, Germany badly needs. Mann pointed out, since all her cultural and economic resources have been concentrated on a "barbaric regime" since 1933. The present division of the country into occupational zones makes it hard for Germans to understand the basic philosophies of individual freedom held by the allies.

In all views of the German problem, two matters are invariably emphasized: first, the need for wholesale teacher re-education in order to raise a new crop of youth trained in democratic ways of thinking; second, the difficulty resulting from the occupational zoning of the country. There is evidence that Americans, British and French are more and more breaking down their zonal barriers, but Russia's remains ironbound by itself. Nevertheless, education must be pushed in the three western areas, and that section must be trained as rapidly as possible to democracy. It is not easy to do this, nor can it be done rapidly. It will take much time and great patience. That is all the more reason for enlarging the beginnings made in giving the young Germany of today a sound foundation.

GARDENS OF OTHER FOLKS

GARDEN TOURS are coming more and more to be an American custom. Communities in all parts of the country, at all seasons of the year, are organizing these sight-seeing expeditions into other people's gardens. What a good idea it is!

A different flower arrangement is spotted in one, a better handling of heavy clay soil, a cultivating trick. The well-kept beds, the smell of freshly-turned earth, the vigor of this plot's delphinium, and that planter's iris, all give visitors new ideas and strengthened inspiration to go home and do likewise.

These jaunts are valuable whether they be into elaborate estates maintaining corps of workers, or if they include only modest little backyard projects, managed by the man of the house and anyone in the family who will help him. This garden gadding is worth while at any time of the year, but perhaps best of all in spring when outdoor ambitions and horticultural hopes are brightest. Then all the summer lies ahead.

These tours can be big affairs embracing a whole city, or simpler undertakings within a neighborhood. They make for improved gardens, and gardens improve everybody.

The present "tide in the affairs of men" looks very untidy.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 27—It would seem to be about time for certain American taxpayers, who have been taking a royal rook from their capital hired hands for many a decade, to be told the facts of life about the congressional record.

Knowing it to be the official, historical record of what transpires in congress, they read it with a certain amount of faith—not knowing that it isn't a truthful record at all.

It's a pleasantly unscrupulous publication, printed at terrific taxpayer expense, which permits a senator or representative to second-guess every single utterance he makes in congress and thus go on record as having said what he wishes he had said—rather than what he actually shouted.

In short, other than for such mathematical things as vote counts, any similarity between what happens in congress and what appears in the official record is the result of, (1) coincidence, (2) members' satisfaction with their true statements, or (3) their honesty in refusing to "doctor" the record.

Of course, millions of words which never were spoken in congress go into the record under the "revise and extend" rule. This permits a senator or representative to read the first sentence of a speech (or nothing at all) and ask unanimous consent to revise and extend his remarks.

Almost inevitably it goes into the record—no matter if it's the poem written by the third-grade daughter of a political boss or an editorial from the Communist Daily Worker.

But those things go into the record's "appendix". What happens in the play-by-play account itself is that a congressman can say one thing on the floor and then see to it that just the opposite point-of-view is printed in the record.

This is done by supplying proofs of the record's copy to the members for their editing and revision—"in case the official stenographers made any mistakes," it says here.

Obviously, some members use this trick for unscrupulous politicking. They can send the copies of their original speech, as given, to the voters who favor that side of a question. Then they can send franked copies of the congressional record to the voters on the other side, after their facile editing pencils have reversed their stands.

That sort of thing, however, is not too common. Far more popular is the practice of covering up embarrassing blunders made on the floor. Typical of that type of maneuver was the trick pulled last week by the dean of the senate, Tennessee's Kenneth McKellar.

He hit the floor triumphantly with a newspaper clipping about the United Nations atomic energy commission. He said it proved the Russians had scored some sort of victory, and in an I-told-you-so manner, reminded fellow senators bitterly that they had confirmed appointees of this "atomic energy commission" over his three-months-long objections. Now they could see what had happened!

DIET AND HEALTH

One Cause of a Back Ache

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHO among us has not at some time or other been afflicted with severe pain in the back? Very few, yet all too often we put up with it while it lasts, and after it is over attribute it rather vaguely to "lumbago."

As a matter of fact such pain often indicates renal colic. This condition is caused by violent contractions of the muscular wall of the tube which leads from the kidney to the bladder. Doctors call this tube the ureter.

Painful Location

Painful contractions in this location are due to some blocking of the ureter and this, in turn, may be caused by many things. For example, a small stone or dried blood clot. On the other hand, bending or twisting of the ureter because of a movable kidney may be responsible.

Perhaps the most common cause of renal colic is the passing of a small stone through the narrow passageway of the ureter. These stones may be made up of various substances such as calcium oxalate or calcium carbonate, uric acid, or various phosphates. The exact cause for the formation of kidney stones is still not known. Diet, infections, and chemical changes in the urine all may play a part.

Agonizing Type

The pain produced by renal colic is perhaps one of the most agonizing types of pain from which people may suffer. The pain is deep in the back and may pass generally into the groin. The pain may be continuous for hours. There may be some tenderness or rigidity or stiffness of the muscles over the affected side. Usually some blood is present in the urine.

The diagnosis of renal colic is usually not difficult because the pain is so severe, and, often, there is blood present in the urine. An X-ray examination is of course valuable in making a diagnosis. Conditions which may produce symptoms like those of renal colic are appendicitis, gallstones, spasms of the bowel, and tumors of the kidney.

Pain-Relieving Drug

The treatment which Dr. Thomas L. Hardy, of Birmingham, England, advises, is the giving of a sedative or pain-relieving drug as soon as the diagnosis of renal colic has been made. Such substances as the nitrites may be of help since they tend to relax muscle spasm. They are taken under the directions of the physician.

Heat applied over the abdomen and the back may also be helpful in relieving the symptoms. The patient is kept in bed until the attack has completely cleared up. The giving of plenty of fluids, at least five pints in twenty-four hours, is advisable. In many instances, a small stone may pass through the ureter and into the urinary bladder, whereupon the pain clears up. In some cases, it may be necessary to perform an operation to remove the stones.

It is important, if a stone is passed, or removed, that it be analyzed to determine its chemical makeup so that regulation of the diet may be used in an effort to prevent the formation of other stones. For example, some kidney stones are made of oxalate. Food such as rhubarb, tomatoes, strawberries, spinach, and asparagus contain a high content of oxalate and should be avoided by a person with oxalate kidney stones. However, if they are eaten with a generous amount of fats, the oxalates form a soapy substance in the intestines which is not taken up by the body, and thus the oxalate-containing foods will cause no difficulty.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Councilman George L. Crites, South Court street, is on crutches, suffering from a foot fracture.

Circleville high school's instrumental musicians, under direction of C. F. Zaenglein, will present their annual Spring concert Friday evening in the school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Barnhill, Jacksonville, Illinois, are parents of a daughter, Julia Faye, born Tuesday May 26, 1942.

TEN YEARS AGO

Senior class of the Circleville high school, had a picnic at Serpent's Mound, Adams county.

Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, South Pickaway street, is ill with the mumps.

Articles loaned by the state Archaeological and Historical society, are on display in the public library.

Twenty-five years ago Miss Ruth Mack, South Washington street, spent the day with friends in Columbus.

Fashion note: "A sport skirt of gray, rose and white striped covert, fringed at the lower edge and worn with a gray silk tuxedo sweater and a smart ribbon hat, completes a good looking Spring outfit."

Circleville's weather observer has received notice that the river will go to the 12 foot level by this evening.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

DURING the phone strike there were just oodles of people we wanted so desperately to call up and couldn't. Now that it's over we can't remember the name of a single one of 'em.

The penny postcard may be on its way out, we hear. What a relief this would be to us stay-at-homes during the vacation season.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

BILL PULLED Diane down beside him on the davenport, her head against him.

"You're not frightened about it, are you, Di?"

"No. No, of course not."

"Shouldn't you see a doctor?"

"I have."

"You have, already? What did he say? Did he say everything'd be all right?"

"Yes. He said I was in splendid health."

"Then there's not a thing to worry about. But why did you say, a few moments ago, you were sorry?"

"Ashamed of that outburst, of the mental torment that had led her to it, Diane turned her face onto his shoulder. 'This is enough,' she told herself. He was sweet about it, concerned and tender. She said: 'It's so soon. And I thought—well, it costs so much!'"

He drew her face up to kiss it. "You funny girl, as if we couldn't swing a thing like that!" Then he lifted his hand to the portrait on the wall opposite them. "Hope it's a boy! He'll be William Arden, the fifteenth, or so."

"We must speak for a bigger apartment in this building," Bill said the next morning, with the air of having settled that problem during the night.

Diane thought of the little house in the country. Impulsively her lips opened to tell him of it, instead she protested. "Bill, there's no hurry. It won't be till April, sometime."

"Not too far off to decide what we'll do. This location is convenient and not too expensive. One more room is all we'll need, isn't it? By the way, what doctor did you go to?"

"Doctor Everts," Diane answered briefly.

"Who's he?"

"The one who brings the best babies!"

"I'd rather you'd gone to Doctor Phelps. Mother thinks there's no one like him."

"It's too late. I've practically signed on the dotted line." On a sudden thought Diane dropped her facetiousness. "Bill, you won't tell your mother?"

"Not tell mother? Bill stared at her. 'What do you mean?'"

"I mean—of course everyone will know some time, but until then—can't we keep it to ourselves? It doesn't concern anyone but ourselves!"

Bill said quickly: "Certainly it concerns Mother. I think she has a right to know. To feel hurt if we don't tell her!"

Diane sighed. "I'm going to hate all the fussing!" Though it was Bill's family pride in it against which she really was rebelling.

Their right to be proud, William Arden, the fifteenth. They would appropriate her baby before it was born. And she couldn't hope to make Bill understand. Tears of helpless exasperation sprang to her eyes.

Bill saw them and instantly was conciliating. "I won't tell mother until you say I may, Di. We'll leave it at that."

She found herself repeating his last words after he'd gone. "Leave it at that." It had the ring of a compromise. Perhaps that was as far as they'd ever get, together.

Lois telephoned, her voice a high wail. "Thad's staying out in California! Until September! He wired to Danny. That means we'll never finish our movie! And Danny's party's off, because the police are after Gus Schultz again for some thing and Danny said they'd love to get a lot of us in the hoosegow as evidence. I've half made up my mind to go on that cruise with the Barbars; they're not any duller than it is 'round here, just now. I wish you'd go long, Di. We'd get into things on shipboard—"

"Wish I could, but I can't."

Diane drew a breath of relief when Lois hung up. She was saved the necessity of making endless excuses for withdrawing from the movie. Lois would go on that cruise, for with Lois half a mind was action. Vicky and Wilma once started, would fit from one house party to another, for one grew out of another. When fall came they would have forgotten the movie, be off after some other bright idea. The merry-go-round would whirl without her.

And she would be meeting and making a good impression on the people who were right for Bill's best interests. Older women, of Allitha Mathewson's acquaintance and the women and their daughters of Mrs. Arden's smaller and even more exclusive circle of friends. Teas and calls, and more teas and afternoon bridge—Diane made a little face at the prospect it offered.

She called Page. She had made a sandwich and had sat down at the kitchenette table to eat it when suddenly she was too alone.

And there was only Page to seek out. She'd ask Page to join her somewhere for lunch. Back in her mind had lurked, ever since the evening of Mrs. Arden's dinner, a desire to square herself with Page for the witless thing she had said about Rufus at the table. She doubted it had disturbed Page, any more than it had Bill, but bringing it into the open, admitting it, was silly and that there was nothing to it, would wipe it off the slate.

Dialing Page's number she felt a real nostalgia for the time when their friendship had been strong and untroubled. In school and the first winter after she had come to Grandharbor, "Grandharbor," she had cried when her father had told her, "Page Winston lives there!"

And she had telegraphed promptly to Page. Page had come to the hotel the day after she arrived and, for a part of almost every day after that, they had been together. Then less often, when she met Lois and Danny and the others and they rushed her into their gay activities. And then she'd met Bill.

Bill saw them and instantly was conciliating. "I won't tell mother until you say I may, Di. We'll leave it at that."

Legion Auxiliary Hears Report On Poppy Sale

$216.75 Collected In Sales; Girls To Be Honored

Mrs. Robert Shadley, president, conducted the routine business meeting for members of American Legion auxiliary. Monday evening in the Legion home on East Main street.

Report of the poppy sale conducted Saturday in Circleville showed that $216.75 had been derived from the annual sale. All Girl Scout troops that participated in the sale will be guests of the auxiliary at a party, in appreciation of their assistance.

Plans were made for the Summer conference to be held in Circleville on July 10. Group decided to serve refreshments at all meetings, the next slated for June 23.

Atlanta Alumni Banquet Held In School Auditorium

One hundred and thirty two alumni and guests were seated at the red and white decorated tables in the auditorium of Atlanta high school for the Saturday evening banquet and dance.

Lord's prayer was sung by June Peck and Leola Brigner preceding the banquet. Members of Atlanta Methodist church, Women's Society of Christian Service prepared and served the meal.

Jay Skinner, president, presented the program with Wendell Turner giving the welcoming address. Superintendent Warren E. Hobbie introduced members of the graduating class and June Peck, president, gave the response of the class of '47.

Leola Brigner offered a vocal solo. Mrs. Sterling Poling read "History and Facts About the Alumni Association". Piano solo was presented by Ann Betts. Mr. Skinner introduced Miss Ollie Ater, Clarksburg who had been a music teacher in the Atlanta schools and B. H. Moore, Columbus, who attended the Atlanta school more than 50 years ago.

Carl Binns, Delno Steele and Howard Duvall submitted the report of the nominating committee. Officers for 1948 will include Mr. Turner, president, Wendell Tarbill, Atlanta, vice-president, Mrs. Galen Carter, Clarksburg, secretary and Mrs. Roger May, Circleville, treasurer. Mrs. Poling, secretary, called the roll while the program concluded with a vocal solo by Jean Creighton. Dancing in the gym to the music of Ray Creighton and his London Hi dance band furnished entertainment during the social hours.

Jackson Township School Alumni Hold Annual Banquet

Jackson township school alumni banquet was held Saturday evening in the school building with approximately 125 members and guests present. Officers for this year's social evening were Mrs. Fred Riffin, president, Clarence R. Thomas, vice-president, Kenneth Newlon, treasurer and Wanda Hinton, secretary.

Following the banquet a playlet "The Acid Test" was presented by Mrs. Lyle Davis and Miss Helen M. Kern, members of the association. Mrs. Verna Dumm and Carolyn and Jimmy Dumm entertained the group with two musical numbers "O'er Hill and Dale" and "My Wild Irish Rose". Clyde Rowe gave a selected reading. Mrs. Jean Thompson sang "Mademoiselle" and "The Desert Song".

Superintendent R. D. Shauck introduced the 1947 graduates. Mrs. Elzie Brooks welcomed the group into the alumni association and her daughter, Miss Ruth Brooks member of the class of '47" presented the response for the class.

During the business session the members decided to have next year's banquet the second Saturday after graduation, instead of the first Saturday. Plans were made for a picnic during the summer months with Orville Bumgarner as chairman for all arrangements.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

SORORITY TO MEET

Members of Sigma Phi Gamma international sorority will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Ned Plum, East Franklin street, for an important business meeting.

BETTER ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

CHICAGO — American surgeons, physicists, and engineers, after two years of intensive research, have developed new and better artificial limbs for the nation's 20 thousand veterans with amputations. Dr. Paul S. Klopsteg, chairman of the National Research Council's committee on artificial limbs, says that all that remains now is to determine means and methods of producing them on a large scale.

Advisors Named For Nu Phi Mu Group

Mrs. Clyde Wells, North Court street, has been named advisor to Ohio Alpha Theta chapter, unit I, of Nu Phi Mu sorority. Mrs. Harold Dresbach, East Main street, will be assistant advisor to the group. This chapter will be opened tonight at the Presbyterian church here by Mrs. Martha Gillmore, international representative of the sorority.

In the positions of advisor and assistant advisor respectively, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Dresbach become the direct representatives of the international headquarters of Nu Phi Mu, which is located in Kansas City, Missouri.

BIG AIR SHOW TO BE GIVEN MEMORIAL DAY

Denny Brothers, Who Were
Paratroopers During War
At Washington C. H.

Former U. S. Army paratroopers will be featured in an air-borne show to be presented at Washington Airpark, Washington C. H., Friday, Memorial Day.

Presenting the show are the Denny brothers—Mill G., who served during the war with the 11th airborne paratroopers and Cal, who was a member of the 508th parachute regiment.

MANY NEW features are planned by the jumping brothers and their company. A double, or "piggyback" jump, is something new to this area. Both brothers jump from a plane at 3,800 feet, one holding on the parachute harness of the other. After the first parachute opens, if the opening shot is not too great, both men ride one chute down to 3,000 feet. Then the bottom jumper drops another 1,000 feet before he opens his own chute.

In the delayed jump from 4,000 feet a public address system will "take the crowd along to see what happens". A word picture will be given by the jumper who drops 2,000 feet into space from a plane going 133 miles an hour before opening his chute.

A MASS formation jump will show a number of parachutes in the air at once and give spectators an idea of what a combat jump looks like.

Japanese silk parachutes will be released over the crowd and they may be kept by spectators.

Stricken Senator

STRICKEN while sitting in his Washington office, Sen. Kenneth McKellar, 78, of Tennessee, was taken to the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., where his condition is considered serious. (International) lucky enough to get one when it comes down.

Thirty-five aircraft will take part in the show, which is now about four months old. All participants are from the Cincinnati area. Last show by the group was presented in Maysville, Ky., and the troupe is now working east.

DEATH CLAIMS J. F. BITTINGER, DEMO LEADER

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — State Democratic circles mourned the death today of J. Freer Bittering, 61, Ashland, former state chairman of the party and onetime speaker of the house of representatives.

Bittering, employed as a mutuels cashier at Beulah park race track near Columbus, died en route to a hospital yesterday afternoon following a heart attack.

A native of Ashland county, Bittering was 30 when he entered politics as county auditor in 1916.

He served continuously in the state legislature from 1928 until 1936. In 1931, he was minority floor leader. Although the Republicans held a one-vote majority, Bittering was elected speaker of the house in 1934.

In 1936, he was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination as lieutenant governor.

Bittering was Democratic state executive committee chairman from 1940 to 1942.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body was taken to Ashland for burial.

Bittering is survived by his wife, a son, Ritchie, and a daughter, Mary Arminda Bittering.

CANNING RATINGS

NEW YORK — Asparagus and garden peas come first on the home canning schedule in many households. This statement is based on three years of scientific study of home-canning low-acid vegetables and meats, carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture.

We on the Norfolk and Western believe that answer makes sense... for the railroad does things today.
Tomorrow isn't soon enough.

Today, the N. & W. is working on a $12,000,000 improvement and modernization track and tunnel project on one of the busiest districts of its main line in West Virginia, which will increase operating efficiency, improve safety, and enable the railroad to handle more traffic.

Today, the N. & W. is making important changes in grades and track, and installing Centralized Traffic Control on its line between Portsmouth and Cincinnati, Ohio, at a cost of about $3,000,000, which will provide speedier, safer and more efficient movement of traffic on that district.

Today, the N. & W. is expanding its ocean terminal facilities by constructing one of the largest and most modern merchandise freight piers ever built, with new warehouses and a supporting yard at the Port of Norfolk, in order to handle foreign freight and intercoastal traffic with the greatest possible speed and efficiency. Cost — about $6,000,000.

Today, the N. & W. has on order a fleet of the latest streamlined luxury passenger coaches and the newest type roomette sleeping cars, which involves an expenditure of several millions of dollars.

These additions and improvements are some of the principal things the Norfolk and Western is doing today to provide better railway service. And there are many other things not so big, but important.

In short, this railroad and the Norfolk and Western Family are working tooth and nail to improve their service to, and their relations with, the public... today and every day.

TIGERS, YANKS STILL FINDING NEW PITCHERS

Overmire Blanks Indians; Reds Bow To Bucs, Near Cellar

NEW YORK, May 27—The Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees are running one-two in the American League today, and they will continue to dominate the junior circuit if pitching strength tells the story.

A week ago, Detroit admittedly had the strongest hurling corps in Will Harridge's loop. It seems that "them as has gits," because subsequently the Tigers have sprung two additional starting winners in the veterans Alton Benton and Frank (Stubby) Overmire.

Benton won his first starting assignment the other day and yesterday Overmire, making his bow, won a 1-0-0 duel from Cleveland's rejuvenated Don Black, thanks to a homer by Eddie Lake.

A FEW HOURS later the Yankees, who had just won four straight, thanks to superlative pitching by a quartet of starting hurlers, made it five in a row and uncovered a fifth brilliant pitcher in Joe Page, a relief thrower.

A total of 74,747 fans, the largest crowd in the history of baseball attended the game.

Page, relieving Frank Shea in the third inning, got out of a bad jam right off the reel, held the Boston Red Sox to only two hits for the balance of the game, and was credited with the victory as the Yankees rallied to make it four straight over the hapless champions, 9 to 3.

Page's masterpiece came on the heels of two-hit shutouts by Allie Reynolds and Spud Chandler, and a shutout triumph by Shea over Detroit.

Page won with the aid of Joe DiMaggio, whose batting average has zoomed well above the .300 mark after a bad start. The clipper's three-run homer in the fifth beat the Sox. The Champs collected a total of only 13 hits in their disastrous four-game series with the rampant Yankees.

IN THE NATIONAL League, the St. Cardinals again resumed their winning ways, after a temporary setback by Pittsburgh, by winning a night game from the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1, behind the five-hit twirling of their Sunday pitcher, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen. Johnny Schmitz, usually a jinx to the Cards, was the victim.

The Reds lost to Pittsburgh in another are light contest, 5 to 1, as Kirby Higbe finally won a game for the Bucs, and now are only half a game ahead of the Cardinals. The world champion Red Birds, incidentally, now are only six games off the pace and coming faster than bills on the first of the month.

Other teams were not scheduled.

BABY-SITTING CODE
MEADVILLE, Pa. — Meadville's newly-organized "Baby Sitters Service Club" has a code of ethics to which its 25-cent-an-hour baby-tenders must adhere strictly. One provision states: "I will not raid the refrigerator without permission."

FINALS IN OHIO SPRING SPORTS DUE THIS WEEK

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—This is a week of destiny for high school Spring sports teams with state championships scheduled at Columbus in baseball, track, golf and tennis.

So far, however, no one is quite certain who will appear in the state competition.

High School Athletic Commissioner H. W. Emswiler reported yesterday that district and regional qualifiers still were not completed in all cases.

Unusually rainy weather has set the athletic program back on its heels.

The golfers will steal a march on other schoolboy athletes, playing off their tournament tomorrow and Thursday. Play was moved forward from the weekend at suggestion of Ohio State University coach Bob Kepler in order to dodge anticipated heavy Memorial Day crowds on the university course.

Tennis, track and baseball play will be held Friday and Saturday.

Defending champions are: track, Class A, Toledo Devilbiss; Class B, New London; baseball, Class A, Cleveland Lincoln; Class B, Reading; golf, Columbus North; tennis, singles, Tony Trabert, Cincinnati Walnut Hills; doubles, John Collins and George Igel, Cincinnati St. Xavier.

An apparent shoo-in golf is Sandusky with state junior champ Leo Biagetti and national caddy champ Chick Hendrickson in the fold. Hendrickson was also medalist in last year's state tourney.

15 CARS READY TO COMPETE IN SPEEDWAY RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27—Several more cars were expected to attempt qualifying tests today for the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Time tests will continue through tomorrow. A strong southwesterly wind swept the two-and-a-half mile oval yesterday and kept racers off the track.

Three cars qualified during the morning. They brought to 15 the number ready for the 31st running of the race.

Included among the qualifiers was the first post-deadline entry. It was driven by George Connor of Los Angeles at an average speed of 124.874 miles an hour, the fastest of the day.

NIGHT LEAGUE GAME SLATED TUESDAY NIGHT

Mumaw's Market and Drake's Produce teams will play Tuesday night in Ted Lewis park if there is no more rain during the day.

Night Softball League President Ed Amey said Tuesday morning the field would be in shape for the game with the help of a little sunshine and no more rain.

Richard's Implement and Esmeralda teams started a game Monday night but were forced to quit after two innings when new showers poured on the park.

No need to "swear off" white bags. When they're plastic and washable, besides being smart, you won't have those old sources of annoyance. No more gray film covering your purse! No more spots dotting the surface! All you have to do to make a new bag out of these washable plastics is to apply warm, soapy water. Easy, and the results are so gratifying!

over Columbus, 5 to 4, while the Toledo Mud Hens were losing to Indianapolis, 5 to 1.

The Colonels came from the short end of a 4-to-0 score to nip Columbus. Chuck Koney's seventh inning homer tied the game up. In the tenth, relief pitcher Bill Elbert opened with a single, and Chick Genovese, running for him, eventually scored on a fly ball.

Indianapolis staged a four-run uprising in the eighth to break up a close battle between Bob Malloy of the Indians and Chester Johnson of the Hens. Malloy allowed only five hits.

Meanwhile, Kansas City maintained its two-and-a-half game hold on first place in another thriller, nosing out St. Paul, 5 to 4.

It was a bad day all around for Manager Herman Franks of St. Paul, who was fined $25 by league president Frank Lane for refusing to leave a game at Kansas City May 22. Don Lund, Saint outfielder, was parted from $15. The fourth game in the circuit, in which Minneapolis trounced Milwaukee, 7 to 1, was also close until the sixth. The Millers broke loose with four runs in that inning. Francis Hardy was the winning hurler.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK—A scene of wild beauty: Swift Current falls. Rockies loom in rear.

By RALPH L. GUYETTE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Have you ever found yourself gazing at an artist's conception of one of those super ocean liners—one with a swimming pool on every deck, bowling alleys in the hold, motor cars to carry you about, and all for a hundred dollars a trip, or some such fantastic figure?

Have you ever dreamed of boarding one with the whole family for a quick look at Europe? If you have (and it ought to be fun) I doubt very much if you will make it this year. Reasons? There are two:

1—There are no such liners as yet afloat.

2—For a hundred bucks in this year of 1947, you probably could not get the family across Lake Champlain which, incidentally, is quite narrow.

Inexpensive Vacation

So why not take a try at one of our National Parks? For relaxing beauty, for untouched wilderness, for pure air and sunshine, for vacationing, in other words, they cannot be beat and it will not cost you a fortune either.

Since 1916 when the National Park Service was first established huge tracts of our great country have been preserved in their natural state so that we and our posterity might enjoy parts of America just as they were in the wild and woolly days of Gen. George Custer, Sitting Bull and Billy the Kid.

So, if it is wilderness you want, if it is the good clean outdoors, you will be going to the right spots.

These parks, free from commercial exploitation of any kind, contain the same lakes and waterfalls, the same thriving wildlife, the same relationships between all living and growing things that existed hundreds of years ago.

Here, too, a dollar can be stretched until Washington's mouth is as wide as the Grand Canyon. In these parks there are nearly 10,000 camp sites equipped in most cases with running water, sanitary facilities, outdoor tables and benches, cooking facilities and space for an automobile and tent. The children will dream of it forever.

At Yosemite National Park, for instance, you can camp 30 days for nothing. All you will need is your grub and camping equipment. There is good fishing there, too, and as John Muir once said: "The landscape is a revelation that enriches one's life forever."

If you have a few dollars socked away for the occasion, you can stay at Yosemite lodge, European plan, for $1.75 a day and up, or you can get a completely furnished housekeeping tent for as little as $10 a week.

In most of the parks there are accommodations to fit every purse and diversions of every kind for your summer pleasure.

Yellowstone would be a good bet this year for on March 1 it celebrated its 75th birthday. Containing upwards of two million acres of Wyoming, Montana and Idaho land, this park was once the stamping ground of such famous frontiersmen as Jim Bridger, John Colter, Dan Potts and countless other trappers and hunters.

Here you will see that phenomenal geyser, Old Faithful, which has been erupting approximately every 60 minutes for years

BRUCE CANYON—The Three Goblins, oddly-formed peaks.

Wild West Beauty Beckoning Tourists Of Slender Means But With a Desire To Go Sightseeing

and perhaps for hundreds of years. Here you will see more not spring and geysers than in any other place on earth.

You will see grizzly and black bear, Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep, elk, antelope and moose. You will see so much wild life that you will think you are boarding the Ark of Noah.

Pink Cliffs in Utah

However, for bewitching colors and for sheer beauty of formation you would need to travel a long way before you would see anything to surpass the Pink cliffs of Bryce Canyon National Park in Utah. In this wilderness of rock, the wind and the rain have cut myriads of domes, spires and temples to rival rock formations existing anywhere on the earth's crust.

During the last 200,000,000 years, say geologists, the elements have been at work creating these masterpieces of natural art. First the sea came and covered the land completely; then broad rivers lashed its roughened surface. Finally, as though to uncover its hidden beauty, the desert winds swept out of nowhere, drying up the water and leaving Bryce Canyon for all the world to see.

So, if you are going vacationing this year, why not try a homeland park. Where could you see more and do more for less? You live in the same country with all of this magnificent nature. You pay taxes for its support. Why not take a look at it? It is yours.

There was an unbelievable silence, while senators fought to keep their faces straight. Then California Senator William Knowland arose and gently explained to McKellar that those were 2 different outfits—the domestic atomic energy commission, which the senate had confirmed, and the United Nations commission which had taken the action he so deplored.

"Well," snorted McKellar, "that's the first I ever heard of that!"

That comment was duly reported by newsmen in the senate press gallery. Also, it was repeated with hilarious howls by the other senators present.

But, next day, when the congressional record appeared, it seemed the senator hadn't said anything of the sort. According to what must have been hurriedly edited proofs, what McKellar replied was:

"I understand that, but I was drawing a parallel, and I have not the slightest doubt that the United Nations atomic energy commission and the United States atomic energy commission, presided over by Mr. (David E.) Lilienthal, are working in closest and most congenial harmony, etc., etc., and etc."

A very erudite reply, indeed. The only thing wrong is that McKellar didn't say it—ask any reporter or senator.

And since every single congressional record carries similar untruths in the form of statements and speeches which never were made, I wonder how long it's going to be before the American taxpayers demand that history's official record of congressional activities remain honest and untouched by the second-

UNDULANT FEVER SITUATION HERE NOT ALARMING

Several Circleville residents Tuesday were reportedly suffering from undulant fever. However, both the city health officer and the Pickaway county health department said the situation was in no way alarming.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said there were no officially reported cases of undulant fever in the county outside of Circleville. The city health officer disclosed that physicians have recently reported no new cases of the malady although it was stated the office has record of four cases described as chronic.

Undulant fever is an ailment of remittent character and is said to be contracted mostly from milk, meats, and some kinds of vegetables. Most of the cases, it has been claimed, are transmitted through unpasteurized milk.

Although most of the milk distributed in Circleville is the pasteurized type, quantities of unpasteurized milk also are consumed in the community.

DISCARDS DECIDE IT
MAKING OF a suit contract at a high level is usually a matter of getting rid of cards which otherwise would represent losing tricks—either by ruffing them or by discarding them on winning cards of another suit in the opposite hand. When there is some one side suit of equal length in the two hands, and no secondary honors high enough to finesse, the only possible way to eliminate its losers is by means of discards. That is why it pays to seek a contract at which discards can be obtained.

That was the most expert bidding done on this deal in a big duplicate. North decided that his spade Q and club K-J did not constitute enough of the right kind of honor strength to give a positive response to the two-bid on the first round. But, when South's heart rebid showed the suit to be at least five cards long, North had adequate support for this declaration, also sufficient strength to lend safety to the game try, so was conservative in calling his 4♥-rebid.
South now took stock. He decided that if North had three or four small diamonds, the heart slam might not be makeable. He therefore bid the 4-Spades in the hope that North might have four cards of that suit. He did, as he showed with his 5-Spades. If South had not held both the A and K, but only the A, that could have been a mere cue-bid to show the K. But, having both of those cards himself, he knew North was treating his suit as a four-carder to show a 6-4 division. South therefore bid the slam in his four-card suit.
It is good he did. At 6-Hearts the slam could be set unless West was so foolish as to lead a club, since otherwise two diamonds must be dropped. At 6-Spades, however, the contract was in the bag, with an extra trick, as North's diamonds could be put on South's hearts. The heart slammers made their contracts only where West unwisely led a club.

them as if they were real. Radio Row is just an expression.
The industry is not lined up in a row. It sort of staggers about the city. NBC is over on 49th street between Fifth and Sixth in a little steel structure about 70 stories tall called Radio City. ABC is also there.
CBS has a small shack on Madison and 52nd.
Mutual's way over on Broadway, near the garment district. Around there, the man in the street is a guy pushing racks of dresses between taxicabs. The advertising agencies, and publicity agencies and various trades—people who make a small fortune off radio are located here and there.
So you see, radio row is not really a street or anything like that, but it's just an expression to include everybody in one lump.
Well, that's not what I had in mind. Radio row is buzzing, as I said before, like a jar of grape jam after the kids have been in it and forgotten to put the cover back on.
YOU'LL PROBABLY be interested in what's ulcerating Radio Row. This is the dope.

Scioto Booms To 15.60 Feet, Covering Hundreds Of Acres

RIVER BELIEVED AT PEAK, SLATED TO RECEDE NOW

Weatherman Holds Out Hope Of At Least Temporary Relief From Rain

Stage of the Scioto river at Circleville was 15.60 feet at 8 a. m. Tuesday. This level is 1.60 feet above the 14-foot flood stage.

Announcing that Monday night's rainfall measured one-tenth of an inch, Charles Carter, Circleville observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, said he believed the river had reached its crest Tuesday morning and that—barring more heavy rains—the waters would recede steadily. Carter added that at 8 a. m. Tuesday the river stage had declined 8 inches at Columbus.

The measurement at Circleville was 13.65 feet at 8 a. m. Monday and 14.80 feet at 5 p. m. Monday.

Hundreds of acres of lowlands near Circleville were partly inundated by high waters.

Although skies were cloudy Tuesday morning the official weather forecast of "sunny and warmer" held out some hope to many Pickaway county farmers far behind their plowing and planting schedules.

THREE-ALARM FIRE GUTS THREE COLUMBUS STORES

COLUMBUS, O., May 27 — A three-alarm fire early today gutted two Columbus stores in a downtown office building.

The Modern Youth shoe store at 179 South High street and the Harmony record shop at 177 South High street were burned out and offices in the upper three stories of the structure were damaged from smoke and water.

Fire Chief Clarence E. Ogburn said he could not estimate the amount of damage caused by the blaze.

Ogburn said the fire started in a waste paper basket in the basement and burned up into the ground floor stores.

Thirty minutes after the third alarm was turned in fire fighters called for two more trucks and an extra turret to prevent the fire from spreading.

Flames shot out of the building and heat from the burning phonograph records in the record shop was intense.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours before it was sufficiently under control to allow some of the trucks to return to their stations.

SPEEDER FINED

YOUTH PASSES SCHOLARSHIPS EXAMS FOR FOUR

DAYTON, O., May 27—An 18-year-old Dayton schoolboy was faced today with making a tougher decision than he had ever had to make in an examination.

As a matter of fact, taking examinations brought about his dilemma.

To make sure that he wasn't left out in the cold in his quest for a successful career in chemical engineering, Charles D. Graham, Jr., took exams for four different college scholarships.

He won them all, and now has to decide which one to accept.

KIWANIS HEARS MEMORIAL TALK

The Rev. L. C. Sherburne Urges Members To Work For Better America

"If the men we honor on Memorial Day were here today, I believe they would urge us to devote ourselves to our country and see that the democratic way of life continues," the Rev. L. C. Sherburne told fellow members of the Kiwanis club Monday evening.

Giving the annual Memorial Day address to the club, the rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church stated that the usual observance of the holiday is good but "external". He listed several ways in which we could help make "our country the kind of America we ought to have".

The Rev. Mr. Sherburne suggested we look at the political situation and try to improve it; give attention to the economic situation, see that all, including handicapped veterans have jobs; check on industry and labor, see that the laboring class is treated right but "true Americans oppose crippling strikes"; help make the educational system better; improve the home life.

CONTINUING the minister said there should be military preparation to guard us against "powerful, jealous nations who would welcome a chance to pounce on a defenseless America". He said he opposed war but does believe "it utter folly to be unprepared". He declared any atheistic philosophy is dangerous and urged his listeners to be on guard against such policy.

The Rev. Mr. Sherburne said a country could not progress without sound morals. He declared "a country which believes in God will be a country bound to endure."

The speaker was introduced by the program chairman, Harold Defenbaugh.

Jim Kirkpatrick was a guest at the meeting. Secretary G. Guy Campbell was welcomed back following his recent serious illness.
